Judge Pierce will succeed Judge Stevens on Monday and today Judge Stevens devoted the afternoon to the hearing of motions, finishing up all outstanding business before leaving the bench.

The last case to be heard by him was called shortly before noon today and after a jury had been empaneled

MAYOR BROWN

Addresses Letter to Heads of Depts.

REMINDING THEM OF HIS AUTHORITY

And His Right to Supervise Work of All Departments—Wants Department Heads to Notify Him When Leaving Town in Business Hours

Mayor Brown has addressed a communication to heads of departments in which he instructs them to inform him whenever they plan to leave the city during office hours, and where they can be found in case they are needed.

He calls the attention of heads of departments to chapter 16 of the city charter and to section 1, chapter 415 of the charter amendments, both of which relate to the authority of the mayor.

"In my opinion," he says, "the mayor under the above laws, is not only authorized, but if he is faithful to his trust is required to exercise general supervision over each and every department of the city."

Mayor Brown says in his communication that all department heads are at all times within the jurisdiction of the mayor, and it is within the province of the mayor to direct any department head as to the general conduct of his department.

"Without question," he says, "one of the principal objects of the charter amendments is to protect heads of departments from possible importunities of the city council."

Continuing, the mayor says: "The practice of heads of departments leaving the city during office hours, except on business, must be stopped, and in the future I shall require that when a department head plans to go out of town during office hours he shall first notify the mayor, or in the absence of the latter, the city messenger."

A LIVELY SCRAP PUBLIC HEARING

At Portuguese Celebration in By Old Age Pension Commission This City at City Hall

The story of the affair in Lincoln hall last Sunday afternoon, when Patrolman Joseph Clark was assaulted while trying to place a disturbance under arrest was aired before Judge Bradley in police court this morning. Manuel Mallo was charged with drunkenness and assault on an officer, while Armando and Antonio Borba were charged with drunkenness and interfering with an officer during the performance of his duty.

According to the testimony offered Mallo had partaken of a great deal of the liquor that was being served in the hall and when the barkeepers thought he had enough they told the officer to put him out. Mallo started to leave the hall and assaulted the officer, and his two friends, the Borba brothers, interfered and tried to take Mallo away from Patrolman Clark.

In the scrimmage that followed, the officer was kicked and punched and was getting used rather badly when assistance arrived on the scene.

In court this morning J. Joseph O'Connor appeared for the defendants and pleas of not guilty were entered. The prosecution was conducted by Acting Superintendent Redmond Welch.

Patrolman Joseph Clark testified that he was on duty at a Portuguese party in Lincoln hall, Cornhill street, Sunday afternoon. There were about 20 kegs of beer and several vessels filled with wine. Mallo had been hitting the wet goods pretty freely and those in charge of the dispensing of the liquor refused to give Mallo any more. Mallo refused to leave the temporary bar and when the officer tried to quiet him he turned and struck the officer on the head. The patrolman closed in on Mallo and had him well in hand when Antonio and Armando Borba arrived on the scene and tried to take Mallo away from the officer. In the scrimmage that ensued witness said he was roughly used, his head punched and kicked, his club taken from him, his badge torn from his coat and his clothing pulled and torn.

When it looked as though the officer would soon be a fit subject for an undertaker, Patrolman Kennedy arrived on the scene and succeeded in partially quelling the disturbance. A little later a detail of officers from the police station arrived and order was restored.

On cross-examination witness said that he had received orders to allow any and all members of the organization to enter the hall, and if any member got into the place one of the officials of the society would notify the officer to put them out.

Witness admitted that there was a difference of opinion as to whether or not Mallo should be put out of the hall. Some shouted for the officer to put him out while others told the officer to allow him to remain.

Officer Kennedy

Patrolman James Kennedy testified to being at Tower's corner when he heard of the disturbance at Lincoln hall. He hurried to the scene and found Patrolman Clark surrounded by a number of men. He said that Patrolman Clark was being roughly used when he reached the place and he approached the place he anticipated trouble and drew his club. He succeeded in getting to the side of the patrolman Clark and while trying to assist in arresting Mallo, Armando Borba made a pass at him and he struck Borba over the head with his club.

John Sousa was called and testified that he was waiting for a car when he saw the trouble. He did not take any hand in the scrimmage until Patrolman Clark called upon him for assistance. Witness said that while he was trying to help Clark Mallo struck at him and he struck back.

Court Officer Whitney was called and testified that all three were under the influence of liquor. He assisted in arresting Antonio Borba, the latter being held by several men in front of Cook, Taylor & Co's store in Central street. He arrested Antonio at the suggestion of several of his brother officers.

Patrolman Clark was recalled and said that all three defendants were drunk at the time.

The prosecution rested its case at this point.

The Defense

Manuel Costa Mallo, one of the defendants, was the first witness called for the defense. He resides in Lawrence and came to Lowell last Sunday. He arrived here shortly after noon and after spending a little time on the streets went to Lincoln hall, arriving there about three o'clock. Witness had dinner after which he went to the upper hall.

At this point it was decided to use an interpreter as the witness could not understand some of the questions put to him in English.

Continuing with his testimony witness said: "I had no ticket, but no one prevented me from staying in the hall. While I was waiting for a friend of mine the officer started to put me out. He took hold of me and some of the people told him to let me stay while others told him to put me out. Some of the crowd started to push me in and others tried to push me out."

He denied that he was ever arrested in Lawrence. He also denied that he struck Patrolman Clark.

Manuel J. Avila testified that he engaged the police officer for the occasion. He saw the officer after he arrived at the hall, but gave no orders to him. The officer was to have charge of the affair. He did not see any of the trouble until Patrolman Clark and Mallo had reached the sidewalk in front of the hall. He said that Antonio Borba was nowhere near the crowd as he was standing in the doorway of the hall.

Witness said that neither of the Borbas was interfering with Patrolman Clark when Patrolman Kennedy arrived on the scene.

At this point the case was continued till tomorrow morning, it being impossible to hear the case this afternoon, owing to the fact that Lawyer O'Connor had to argue a case in the superior court this afternoon.

EVADED CAR FARE

Alfred Parrott Entered a Plea of Guilty

Alfred Parrott pleaded guilty in police court today to being drunk and evading payment of car fare on the Boston & Maine R. R., between Boston and Lowell. He was fined $10 for evading car fare and $2 for drunkenness.

Ducey, testifying in his own behalf, said that he had been drinking during the day but knew nothing about the wire. He said that if he took the wire he did not intend to do so and would not have done such a thing if he was in his sober senses.

He was sentenced to three months in jail on each complaint. Inasmuch as Ducey is a parole man from the state farm and will have to be returned to that institution at the end of the six months to be served in this city, he pleaded with the court to send him to the state farm at once, but the court did not grant Ducey's request.

Case Continued

The case of Joseph Saiman, charged with the larceny of a pair of pants, coat and vest, valued at $10, the property of Isaac Paretsky, was continued till next Tuesday morning, he being held under $500 bonds.

INDIANS LEAVE

Strange Rumblings Have Been Heard

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., June 4.—Manuel Lopez, who arrived last night from San Jacinto mountains, brings information concerning strange rumblings heard for many weeks. He declares the Indians are leaving with all their superstitious fears aroused. Lopez made a thorough investigation and believes the sounds come from a subterranean water fall which he says probably caused the earth tremors therabouts. His statement substantiates reports of that of others arriving from this region. He declares there is no cause for alarm.

THE YALE

WAS IN COLLISION WITH FERRY-BOAT BREMEN

NEW YORK, June 4.—The Metropolitan line steamer Yale, plying between New York and Boston was in collision in the North river today with the Lackawanna ferryboat Bremen. The Yale was only slightly damaged, losing a portion of her rail, but the Bremen's side was badly stove in and part of the upper works on the port side carried away. An incident among the passengers on the Bremen was cleared up when it was seen that the boat was in no danger of sinking. They were speedily landed as were the Yale's passengers, among whom there was little excitement over the collision.

FIVE ARRESTED

On Suspicion of Being Counterfeiters

NEWARK, N. J., June 4.—Four men and a woman, all Italians, were arrested here today on suspicion of being counterfeiters or being concerned in passing counterfeit money. The police found a number of two dollar bills in a trunk in the house similar to many such bills which have been circulated in this city recently.

A Fifth Offender

It was John Ward's fifth appearance within a year. He will spend the next five months in jail.

Suspension Revoked

Hector Grenier, who was under a suspended sentence of four months in jail, was surrendered by the probation officer yesterday and this morning he was committed to jail.

Third Offender

Henry A. Grady made a plea for clemency, but it availed him little, for he was sentenced to four months in jail.

John Ryan, a third offender, was sentenced to five months in jail.

Second Offenders

David Welch, a second offender, promised to do better in the future and was given a suspended sentence of two months in jail.

Margaret Gill, a second offender, was sentenced to two months in jail.

Walter J. Ashland was fined $5 for drunkenness and five first offenders were each fined $2.

John J. Ducey, who is no stranger in the police court room, was arrested in Middlesex street yesterday afternoon by patrolmen and inspectors Lachance and Maher. At the time the police were pursuing Ducey he had a full of wine nothing on his shoulders and was unable to explain where he got it. He was also drunk and was taken to the police station for drunkenness and suspicion of passing counterfeit money. An investigation by the police showed that the wine had been stolen from the Thompson family, who live on Main street.

In court the evidence was placed before the jury and they found Ducey guilty of passing counterfeit money and sentenced him to four months in jail. He was also sentenced to four months in jail for passing counterfeit money.

FIRST PHOTOS OF "THE HOPE OF HOLLAND," PRINCESS JULIANA, AND HER PARENTS

THE HAGUE, June 14.—These are the first photographs of the baby Princess Juliana Louise Emma Marie Wilhelmina of Holland, who was born to Queen Wilhelmina on April 30 and whose arrival sent a thrill of joy to the heart of every Dutchman alive. The pictures were taken by an attaché of the castle. In one, the queen is kneeling beside the little princess, and in the other the prince consort is holding her reverently in his arms. Little princess Juliana and her mother were warmly welcomed last night by Princess Juliana, for after the people of the Netherlands had twice seen their royal daughter, they had begun to feel that their little princess was really theirs. They would have come to the throne of Holland ultimately in the event of there being no direct heir, and Juliana has been showered with gifts as no other baby ever was. From all parts of the world costly presents have come to her, and when she is wheeled out for an airing the people throw flowers in her path. The first lady to salute her received an escort from the prince, her father. The lady, a sergeant on duty at one of the gates to the palace grounds, saw a paragon of beauty approaching, and, suddenly dropping

MRS. FISK DEAD

PAWTUCKET, R.I., June 4.—Mrs Stephen P. Fish, vice president of the National Society of the Daughters of American Revolution, and president throughout Rhode Island, died yesterday. According to the Pawtucket Register, Dr. James L. White, death was due to lack of nourishment. Mrs. Fish was 51 years of age, and was the wife of a prominent druggist of this city. An illness which had become invasive of the digestive organs had led to her death.

PASSE TEMPS CLUB

The following were the officers elected:

Rene Lafleur, president; Ludger Gauthier, vice president; Joseph Levesque, treasurer; J. E. Bellemare, financial secretary; Joseph Lacroix, financial secretary; directors, Amédée Jean, Alberic Gauthier, Philias Rochette, Zénon Chénard.

THEATRE VOYONS

The motion picture theatre of today conducted on the high-class lines of the Theatre Victoria is one of an instructive and beneficial nature. Two of the feature pictures shown there today can well illustrate this. "The Londoners" is a picture of the life of the animals in one of the zoological gardens of their native haunts and they do many interesting things. "What Drink Did" is the strongest temperance argument that has been advanced in a long time. It is very convincing and the best of it is the story that the picture tells is a most interesting one. "Doctors in Arms" is an American military picture, is just what lovers of war pictures want. The plot is a war. It is most intelligently staged. The comedies are laughable and plentiful. The musical selections are not one bit below the pictures for a better sung and sung. "The Fibber" is a picture of a man who is as good as a quarter and they Whiskey was a fine solo.

STAR THEATRE

Eva Tanguay, the highest paid woman in vaudeville, and other celebrities on the American stage, all of whom perform in the best known houses in the largest cities throughout the country, to people who pay admission prices ranging from 75 cents to $2.50, will be seen at the Star Theatre Monday for the first time in Lowell. Now a word in explanation will not be amiss as the theatregoing public of Lowell will ask how can the management do it for an admission of five cents, which includes a seat.

To begin with, the management has the exclusive rights in this city to operate the camcophone. Officers of the Camcophone Company are E. V. Tanguay and others about $300 per day to present their respective acts before a moving picture machine, that is, the machine that presents the entire act on a film. While this is being done a machine like—well, like a monster phonograph, catches every word in a song or speaking parts. The machines work in unison and the act is presented in detail, just as one would see it in one of the largest theaters. The reproduction has reached the zenith of perfection. It will fairly amaze the audience. For 21 cents the audience's principal attraction at a Boston theatre, and bids well to remain for many more.

more. Eva Tanguay, singing her famous song, "I Don't Care," will be seen and heard with Thompson and Ray, The Earl and the Girl. Then there will be stars on the bill who are participating in the big musical extravaganza, "Fluffy Ruffles," that is only one part of the program. Here is the other: "Amateur night," which the Gramophone Company is the best thing ever produced will be given. It is full of the funniest stunts in vaudeville. James J. Morton, the famous boy comic, will be seen and heard, as will Cameron and Gordon in their "Sunset Serenade."

Remember this: It is not a phonograph you will hear or a photograph you will see, but these acts, which cannot be had by any theatrical manager for $1000, and sometimes $2000 a week reproduced as they are being presented at the present time. It is one of the most novel things ever introduced for amusement purposes in this city. You will yet hear Harry Lauder, James J. Corbett, Blanche Ring, Vesta Tilley and not only hear every word in talk and

QUESTION OF THE PUBLIC PARK
CONSIDERED

The committee on the Little Canada park and the park commission held a joint meeting at city hall last night just to talk matters over a bit. The meeting was called to order at about 8 o'clock and after some debate it was decided that the best method to adopt would be the leasing of about five and one-half acres of land at the corner of Alameda and Broadway streets on which to erect shelter houses and playgrounds with necessary equipment. It is also planned to put on a layer of top dressing.

Both bodies thought that such a park so arranged could be maintained at an exceedingly small cost to the city, and would answer every demand of the situation in that section of Lowell. Supt. Whittey was instructed to prepare an estimate of the costs and if they are as low as it is believed they will be, both bodies will report to the city government in favor of carrying the plan through.

vol. by referring to the plan attached to the report. The plan shows the proposed Engineer's Dowers to draw up specifications for a force to be erected along the easterly bank of the Anne and Union streets canal. Inasmuch as this bank is to be used as a park, it is felt that a force of a substantial character should be built. Engineer Bowser estimates that a force of 100 feet from Merchants' street, and 15 feet from the canal, should be built for the purpose of the distance, the force to be of iron. The extra half foot from Merchants' street is deemed necessary because of the fact that the swirling water at this point may be sufficient to cause a rupture in the force from decay. The Anne street park which is to be for use every day in 1910.

AN INCREASE

IN EXPORTS OF COTTON CLOTHS
TO CHINA

China is, as a rule, the largest purchaser of American cottons, but in the years 1907 and 1908 the exports of cotton cloths to that country fell to a small fraction of those of the immediately preceding years. Exports of cotton cloths to China averaged in the fiscal years 1905 and 1906 126 million yards per annum; in 1907 and 1908 they averaged but 63 millions per annum, or one-seventh as much as the average of 1905-6. In the fiscal year 1908 the quantity of cotton cloths exported to China aggregated 498,521,462 yards; in the fiscal year 1909, only two years later, the quantity was 49,876,671, or just one-tenth as much as in 1908.

This large falling off in the exports of cotton cloths to our formerly largest customer, China, was due chiefly, at least, to the fact that the imports of that country in 1905 and 1906 were abnormally large and far in excess of the actual consuming power of that market. North China, especially Manchuria, supplies the principal market of that country for American cottons, and when the termination of the Russo-Japanese war indicated that the doors of that section would be again opened to commerce the importations of cottons, and especially American cottons, into China were enormously increased, and as a consequence our exports of cotton cloths to China advanced from 126 million yards in 1905 to 415 million yards in 1906 and 499 million in 1907, while Chinese imports of cottons from other countries also enormously increased.

This large increase of importations proved to be far in excess of the consuming power of China as a whole, and especially of North China, whose financial conditions had been so affected by events during the war as to reduce its purchasing power below the estimates upon which the large importations had been based. As a consequence, cotton goods from all parts of the world, and especially from the United States, accumulated in enormous quantities in the "godowns," as the warehouses of the Orient are designated. Thus the large reduction in purchases of cotton by China which followed this excessive importation of 1905 and 1906, and the consequent fall of our exports to that country in 1907 and 1908, occasioned little surprise to those familiar with the facts above noted; while the increase in the current fiscal year, 1909, is in turn the natural result of the absorption in that country of the accumulated stocks and a return to normal demands upon the sections of the world from which China has been accustomed to draw her supplies of foreign-made cotton cloths.

The April export statement of the Bureau of Statistics of the department of commerce and labor shows clearly the marked increase of exports of cottons to China and the return toward normal conditions. In the single month of April the quantity of cotton goods exported to China was 16,786,348 yards against 7,237,119 in April of last year, and in the 10 months ending with April 1909, the total export of cotton cloths to China was 190,116,737 yards, against 50,557,191 yards in the corresponding period of 1908. This total of 190 million yards of cottons sent to China in the 10 months ending with April, 1909, is larger than in any corresponding period prior to 1899, and has only been exceeded on six occasions, namely in 1899, 1900, 1901, 1902, 1903 and 1904. For the month of April alone the exports of cottons to China are larger than in that month of any prior year except 1902, 1903, 1905 and 1906.

The cotton goods trade with China has shown during the last decade a much greater fluctuation than that with other parts of the world. In the decade ending with 1909 there was a steady upward trend but no violent changes. In 1899, however, the exports suddenly increased, being more than double those of the immediately preceding year, while in 1900 they were slightly less than in 1899. In 1901 the total dropped to less than half that of 1900 or 1899; in 1902 and 1903 it again attained a higher mark than in any earlier years; in 1904 it dropped to about one-fourth that of the average of 1902 and 1903; in 1905 and 1906 was, as already indicated, by far the largest in the history of that trade; in 1907 and 1908 dropped to a small fraction of the 1905 and 1906 average; and in 1909 is again showing recovery. The trade with other countries of the world has shown very slight fluctuations, the total exports to all countries other than China being in the ten months ending with April, 1909, 51 million yards; 1905, 124 millions; 1906, 129 millions; 1907, 172 millions; and 1908, 190 millions—these figures being in all cases for the ten months ending with April.

To no other country are the exports as large as to China, even in the years of depression. In 1905, when the lowest record of exports to China during the last 15 years was made, the value of cotton cloths sent to that country was more than twice as great as to any other country. Cuba coming next in rank, then Chili, British Australasia, Philippine Islands, Colombia and Canada, in the order named. In the ten months ending with April, 1909, the quantity of cotton cloths sent to China was 190,116,737 yards, against 23,255,500 to Aden, Arabia, 16,863,623 to Cuba, 12,915,232 to Colombia, 10,167,057 to British East India, and $325,501 to the Philippine Islands.

While consideration of the figures of the cotton goods trade with China for single years is liable to be misleading because of the great fluctuations in that trade, it may be said that the growth of movements of American cotton cloths to China has been in recent years much greater than to other parts of the world. The total value of cotton cloths exported to China in the decade ending with 1908 slightly exceeded that to all other countries of the world combined, while the decade ending with 1908 those to China were not more than one-half as great as those to all other parts of the world. In quality and prices the cotton cloths sent to China differ considerably from those sent to other parts of the world, being as a rule heavier goods, intended for the temperate climate of North China, the prices, however, being slightly less, the average export price of the cottons sent to China usually ranging a fraction of a cent per yard lower than the average sent to all other parts of the world.

JOHN M. WARD
MAY BE MADE NATIONAL LEAGUE PRESIDENT

NEW YORK, June 4.—The meeting of the National league magnates in Cincinnati today will be merely an impromptu session and no action, it is understood will be taken on the question of restoring Harry Pulliam to the presidency. This matter will be definitely settled at a meeting to be held in Chicago later in the month. August Hermann of the Cincinnati club, it is said, will stand by Pulliam and so will Robinson of St. Louis; Dreyfus of Pittsburgh; Durham of Philadelphia and Dovey of Boston. The New York club desires John Montgomery Ward as president of the national league.

COLLEGE HEADS HEARD
CONCORD, N. H., June 4.—President Woodrow Wilson of Princeton university and President Henry A. Garfield of Williams college, the latter an Alumnus, spoke yesterday at the luncheon which was one of the features of the closing days of anniversary week at St. Paul's school. President Wilson took a pessimistic view of existing education conditions but President Garfield predicted that a way out of the maze would be found and that President Wilson would be the leader.

LABEL DISMISSED
NEW YORK, June 4.—The label filed by the Steamship United States of the Scandinavian line and the steamship Monterey of the New York & Cuba Mail steamship company, for $250,000, was dismissed by Judge Adams of the admiralty branch of the United States district court in a decision handed down yesterday. The counter label filed by the Monterey for $80,000 was sustained. The litigation grew out of a collision on April 16, 1908. The United States signaled the smaller vessel of her intention to pass and it was alleged that a response signal of "all right" was given by the Monterey. The United States is held to have been responsible for the accident in which she was so badly damaged as to necessitate running her ashore for repairs.

LAST TWO DAYS

Of This Electrifying Offer for Lowell

A. Edward Baer, a little over two years ago opened one of the handsomest tailor shops in Boston at 163 Devonshire St. Catering to a high class trade, his elaborately fitted store contained only the finest foreign and American woolsens. His stock was noted for its extreme taste and conservatism. Looking it over a few days ago at the call of the assignee, I was at once struck with the care that had been exercised in its selection. There wasn't a yard of woolsens in the store that could not be considered a $35.00 suit value as high priced tailoring is appraised.

The Boston Woolen Co. outbid Mitchell with the intention to sell the stock to another tailor in its entirety—and found with sorrow that I was the only tailor in Boston with the ready cash to buy and they sent for me to take the goods at my price. I have made this purchase at a time when I am already overstocked with woolsens, and it is my intention not to carry over a yard of it. Woolsens from this stock were placed in my store this morning that you may be able to judge their value and verify all that I have said for them. See them and handle them without solicitation, and when you have made a selection call one of my salesmen and the price for suit to order will be $10.00.

OPEN EVENINGS

THE TARIFF BILL

Was Debated During Night Session of the Senate

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The atmosphere of the chamber was surcharged with electricity last night when the tariff bill was taken up at 8 o'clock in the first night session since Congress convened. There were 41 senators present. Every republican senator who was in the city, except Mr. LaFollette, was in his seat and his absence was made the subject of criticism that involved the sincerity of his attitude on the tariff bill, and finally descended to serious attacks upon him by a majority of republicans in charge of the bill and spirited defense from insurgents and democrats. Finally the tense situation was smoothed over, but another outbreak is threatened and is almost to occur when the Wisconsin senator again gets the floor.

Growing out of a recess taken in the senate yesterday, in order to give Mr. LaFollette an opportunity to recover and resume his speech.

Mr. Aldrich opposed the suggestion, saying that while the senators sympathized with Mr. LaFollette there was no reason why Mr. Beveridge should not make his own speech if he desired.

Mr. Beveridge immediately interrupted Mr. Aldrich and refused to yield further to him, saying, "I decline to yield because it is not a question of sympathy, and in the second place I have no speech to make."

His feeling was apparent on every side. Mr. LaFollette took the opportunity to make certain statements which, he said, had been promised to the senate for four weeks. Mr. Aldrich replied he would select his own time to make any speech that he desired.

Declaring that Mr. LaFollette had been offensive and insulting to him when he had asked permission to interrupt the senator from Wisconsin, Mr. Gallinger (N. H.) said that an unusual courtesy had been shown Mr. LaFollette Wednesday when the senate took a recess in the middle of the day to give Mr. LaFollette time to recover his strength.

"It has been a part of customary tactics of the senator from Wisconsin," said Mr. Penrose, "to plead illness in the midst of his speeches and under that plea to absent himself from the chamber."

Jumping into the breach Mr. Borah sharply criticized the propriety of making charges against a senator in his absence. Mr. Gallinger followed with a declaration that he had sat near Mr. LaFollette when he was speaking yesterday and that it did not require the services of a physician to prove that he was suffering severely from the strain of his efforts and the heat. Mr. Money, defending the Wisconsin senator declared that he could hear him breathing heavily and that he had been told by Sen. Hale that this was audible across the chamber.

To end the discussion Mr. Aldrich suggested that the senate proceed to the cotton schedule, temporarily and proceed to the consideration of the flax and hemp schedule.

This met with general approval, but was followed by further discussion on the question of courtesy extended to senators taken ill while in possession of the floor in which Senators Beveridge, Dooliver, Money, Lodge and Gallinger all took part.

The senate proceeded with the flax schedule and Mr. Bradley (Ky.) offered an amendment taking late and late butts from the free list and assessing a duty of one one-half cent a pound.

An amendment offered by Mr. Aldrich making the duty on threads made of flax or hemp yarn finer than fivelea 12 1/2 cents per pound was also adopted.

A more specific construction of the wording of the paragraph making straw matting dutiable, and increasing the duty on the finer grades of matting, proposed by Mr. Hale, was agreed to.

A paragraph on cotton bagging was passed over. Mr. Aldrich promising Mr. Tillman that the finance committee would give its careful consideration in order that it may be prepared to insist on its amendment in conference if it should decide to reduce or abolish the duty on cotton bagging.

An amendment offered by Mr. Aldrich placing a duty of 75 per cent. ad valorem on tanneries when mixed with other vegetable substances and treated, was adopted.

The sundries schedule was then taken up and several minor committee amendments specifically placing real horse hair and spangles in the dutiable list were agreed to.

A re-wording of the house bill, placing a duty of 10 per cent. ad valorem on button forms, was agreed to, as well as an amendment making all straw braids for hats dutiable at 15 per cent. ad valorem whether bleached, dyed, colored, stained or not. The house provision placing a duty of 50 per cent. ad valorem on such fasteners or clasps was restored.

Two paragraphs on toys and fireworks, substituted for the house provision was agreed to.

A duty of 35 per cent. ad valorem was placed upon wax and fancy matches and tapers. Red tapers, low and manufactured, were assessed a duty of 10 per cent. ad valorem. The paragraph on furs was changed so as to levy a duty of 20 per cent. ad valorem on dog, goat, or sheepskins which have been sewed together instead of the 25 per cent. duty as reported by the finance committee.

Mr. Aldrich introduced a substitute for the paragraph placing a duty of 50 per cent. ad valorem on jewelry by which specific rates was placed on a long list of articles of jewelry. Mr. Aldrich said the new paragraph would prevent misunderstanding and would increase the revenue. It was agreed to.

An amendment offered by Mr. Root, (N. Y.) to differentiate between real precious stones, such as diamonds and rubies, and semi-precious stones, was passed over at the request of Mr. Aldrich, but an amendment offered by Mr. Lodge specifically placing imitation pearls in the provision placing a duty

AN APPEAL

TO PRES. TAFT FOR JUSTICE IN WOOLEN INDUSTRY

WASHINGTON, June 4.—"Even handed justice in the woolen industry was the alleged object of an appeal made to President Taft yesterday, by a delegation of the Carded Woolen Manufacturers association, representing nearly every state in the country. This delegation charged that under the present woolen schedule, the wool grower is deprived of the expected protection, the carded woolen manufacturer is deprived of all access to the foreign wool suited to his requirements, while the worsted spinners enjoy valuable special privileges by being permitted to import wool at a very low duty per pound.

They demand the abolition of discrimination and special privileges under the law, claim that the so-called wool clause of the Dingley and Payne tariff bills constitute a burdensome discrimination against the interests, arraigned what they regard as the practically prohibitory duties on the by-products of wool manufacturing, characterized the present wool schedule as practically that of 1867, which was primarily a war revenue tax, and advocated an ad valorem tariff as the only complete remedy. They expressed indignation at their treatment by the senate finance committee which they characterized as "the subordination of the principles of fair play to a coalition of forces specially favored under the Dingley bill."

Lobsters 15 cents per pound. Chickens 15 cents each. 2 for 25 cents at the Tarpon Saturday.

AN INTERNATIONAL PEACE ARMY NEEDED.

Peace, peace, universal peace, is something for which the world sighs. Christians labor and statesmen strive against the intrigues of ambitious princes and men who want an opportunity to display what they flatter themselves is military genius.

It was Melton who said that "Peace hath her victories no less renowned than war." Washington said: "There is nothing so likely to produce peace as to be well prepared to meet the enemy." In the bible we read: "They shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks: nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more."

In the bible also we read: "Blessed are the peace-makers for they shall be called the children of God."

In spite of these texts, however, it is clear that conditions may arise to justify war. This idea was expressed by the great Kossuth when he said: "I am a man of peace. God knows how I love peace. But I hope I shall never be such a coward as to mistake oppression for peace."

Douglas Jerrold said: "We love peace as we abhor pusillanimity; but not peace at any price. There is a peace more destructive of the manhood of living man than war is destructive of his material body. Chains are worse than bayonets."

But from the contemplation of peace let us turn to the horrors of war briefly described by General Sherman as "Hell."

It was Burke who so truly said: "War suspends the rules of moral obligation, and what is long suspended is in danger of being totally abrogated."

"War," said Fielding, "is the sink of all iniquity," and it was Ben Franklin's opinion that: "There never was a good war or a bad peace."

"Every war," says Bovee, "involves a greater or less relapse into barbarism. War, indeed, in its details, is the essence of inhumanity. It dehumanizes. It may save the state but it destroys the citizen."

It is needless to dilate further upon the beauties of peace or the horrors of war. The people of this country have ample evidence of the horrors of war and on every hand reminders of its victims. Yet our wars have probably been conducted on lines more humane and honorable than most of the great wars in history.

The wars of Napoleon, the Russo-Japanese war and more recently the Turkish revolution, were all conducted on more barbarous lines than were any of our American wars.

In the revolution by which this nation was founded, the magnanimity of Washington pervaded his armies and prevented all unnecessary cruelty in conquering the enemy.

In the Civil war and our subsequent conflicts of minor importance, the rules of civilized warfare were strictly observed so that there was no such thing as the exercise of wanton cruelty towards the enemy when they fell into our hands. Not so, however, in some of the old world conflicts, such, for example, as the recent Turkish revolution which was an exhibition of the wildest fanaticism that the whole civilized world should rise up to condemn.

As in former uprisings under the sway of Abdul Hamid, poor, persecuted Armenia was the chief object of the infuriated soldiery, chafing to vent their rage on the Christian sects.

If we are to have universal peace it will not come by the method of every country taking Washington's advice so as to be always prepared to meet the enemy.

This nation has been working on that policy ever since the Civil war, and never more emphatically so than during the past few years during which ex-President Roosevelt urged the necessity of a peace compelling navy.

While we were building up a large navy, the other great nations took good care not to be left behind. England set out to keep ten per cent. ahead of the next two great powers in the strength of her navy. While she was following this policy, publicly announced, Germany stole a march on her and turned out so many battleships that England on learning the facts was badly shocked. Now she has redoubled her energies and increased her taxes so as to get ready to repel a German invasion.

Thus rival powers keep the peace of the world always in peril, and still the work of increasing armaments from the strongest to the weakest goes on unceasingly. Under such conditions, where is the hope of universal peace? Nowhere except in The Hague tribunal which is powerless to enforce its decrees.

What is needed in addition to The Hague tribunal is an international fleet and an international army, supported by the great powers for the purpose of preserving the peace of the world. If disputes arise between nations they should be settled by arbitration. There are rulers such as Emperor Wilhelm who believe the map of the world should be changed just as often as an ambitious potentate like himself experiences a thirst for conquest. Nothing can prevent such men from enacting war except the interposition of an international force such as we have suggested, ready at all times to move against any power that insists upon disturbing the peace of the world by declaring war. This power should be maintained by the combined powers and should be under the direction of The Hague tribunal or of a council of the powers authorized to direct this force so as to preserve so far as possible universal peace and to force arbitration of all international disputes. Under present conditions we can never have such a thing as security against war, for seldom will the danger of war wholly disappear even in times of peace, and this gives every great power a pretext for keeping ever in readiness to enter into a deadly conflict with some rival nation.

It is true we are always on the verge of war, always on the edge of a volcano, as it were, awaiting the eruption. It is a disgraceful condition to prevail at this stage of the world's advancement and civilization and one that should be supplanted by a lasting covenant for universal peace so that the world could pursue the arts of civilization without the ever present dread of retributive and devastating war.

then called to the stand speak testily in praise of the integrity and honesty of the defendant.

Bishop John W. Hamilton of the M. E. church, who had known the family of the defendant for years, declared he could not believe the charges against him when he heard them, and Rev. Dr. L. B. Bates, pastor of the First Baptist, spoke highly of Mr. Battis.

There were many others, including fellow members of the secret orders, who said that they believed the defendant honest and upright. Most of them had known him since he was a child.

Judge Schofield listened with patience, but when Mr. Gove said he had more witnesses to produce if the court cared to hear them, he would not run. When Mr. Gove finished, the justice said:

"With all due respect to the standing of these gentlemen and their knowledge of the reputation which he enjoys, I am forced to say that they did not hear the evidence in the case. I have no doubt that they come here with the most commendable of motives."

After the imposition of the sentence the counsel for the defendants—Mr. Gust. Atty. Hill and his assistant, Mr. Weed, had a conference with Judge Schofield. The representatives of the defendants asked for a stay of execution while they prepared an appeal to the higher court.

Judge Schofield denied the request and the three men were sent to the detention room to await transportation to the house of correction, where the sentences began last night.

THE HOSPITAL OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

A LIVELY SESSION

Of the Board of Charities Held Last Night

the city council had not voted any money for the observance of the day it would be unbecoming for the board to spend money for a band concert.

Mr. Drapeau said that if Mr. Brady's motion was made at a time nearer the fourth of July he would favor it.

It was after Mr. Drapeau had expressed himself that Mrs. Tibbitts referred to the inmates at the farm as "the feeble minded and drunken bums." She said if the city wasn't to have a official celebration she couldn't see why a band concert should be provided for the entertainment of the "many feeble minded and many drunken bums" at the farm.

Mr. Brady resented Mrs. Tibbitts' characterization of the inmates at the farm and with fine scorn said: "I object to your remark. We are not endowed with a big brain. Some are more fortunate than others—that's all."

"If I modify my statement," said Mrs. Tibbitts. "I was only quoting what others say."

Supt. Mayberry was instructed to find out what it would cost for a band for the afternoon of July 4.

"Then there was a whisper in a little ink in which Mr. Howe refused to take back water on an interview by him which appeared in the public press. Mr. Drapeau who opened the matter up. He said: "Something happened last week which concerned the whole board of charities, and I want to ask Mr. Howe if he is responsible for the article that appeared in the paper about that I have reference to?"

Mr. Howe—"What article do you refer to?"

Mr. Drapeau: "The article about taking children away from their parents and giving them to the state."

Howe would like to know where Mr. Howe got his information and I would like to know if he was authority for the statement that all was not harmony in the board?

Mr. Howe: "I was not authority for the statement that all was not harmony relative to the transfer of children from the parents or guardians. I was to say with all emphasis that I was the statement just as it appeared in the interview in question. I will understand for the placing of a child where it could not see its parents. I will do my utmost to prevent any such separation of children from their parents or guardians. I could be making a milk of human kindness and stand idly by and permit so outrageous a transfer to be made."

Mr. Drapeau: "That is all right!"

Mr. Howe gave the impression that all other members of the committee decision on any member of this board."

Mr. Draper: "Wouldn't it have been courtesy to have waited a while and not to have said anything until the matter came before the board."

Mr. Howe: "I am desirous of showing courtesy and I appreciate that I am in response to the citizens of the city. I shall not take any backwater nor for argument. The statement I made to the reporters I would repeat tonight."

Mrs. Tibbets: "Mr. Howe should have expressed himself at the board meeting and not outside—not to the reporters."

Mr. Draper: "Mr. Howe did declare himself at that meeting. He said that parents should not be separated from their children. No attempt should be made to cast reflection on Mr. Howe in this matter."

Mr. Howe: "I was dumbfounded when this matter was brought up and in an astonishment I asked, 'Superintendent, Mayberry if he really intended to transfer the children to state control.'"

Mrs. Tibbets: "There was no discussion of the question at the meeting. Nothing was said here."

Mr. Draper: "I must bring up the chair. Mr. Mayberry was brought up at this meeting."

Mr. Howe: "The matter certainly was brought up at the meeting and it seems immaterial to me whether or not my sentiment in the matter was more strongly expressed in my interview than at the meeting."

Mrs. Tibbets: "You caused Mr. Mayberry to say what he was talking about. If you understood what the committee had in mind you would not have talked," she said. "Your talk was premature and you did not know what you were talking about. Had you known what it was you would have been able to express yourself more intelligently."

When the smoke of battle cleared away the meeting stood adjourned.

82 YEARS OLD

Veteran Lawyer Observed His Birthday Anniversary

George Washington Batchelder, the veteran lawyer and banker, observed the 82d anniversary of his birth yesterday at his home, 56 Arlington street. Despite his advanced years, Mr. Batchelder is still active and enjoying the best of health. He was at his office in the hour of trade routes yesterday, as he is every working day, and few if any would take this active business man to be over four score years.

Mr. Batchelder was born in Hallowell, N. H., June 3, 1827 and spent the early days of his life on his father's farm. He received but a meagre education in the public schools. He came to this city when he was 14 years of age and was admitted to the Massachusetts bar in 1852 and two years later was admitted to practice of law in the courts of Illinois.

Mr. Batchelder tells of some interesting experiences in the west. He occupied many public positions while in Illinois and took an active part in a political fight while a resident of Hancock county, Illinois.

In speaking of his experiences, Mr. Batchelder said:

"They called me a blundering abolitionist," said Mr. Batchelder, in telling of his experiences, "and the country was democratic by about 300 or 400 votes. But I was elected county superintendent of schools for four or five years, and acted in a similar capacity for about four years more. I suppose I have examined about a thousand teachers while I was in Illinois."

"I met and talked with Lincoln, and I heard him in his debates with Douglass. I was a pretty young fellow then, and I played in the band, and was present at one of the great debates."

"Lincoln was a homely man—there is no doubt of that. I remember an amusing act of a man I knew out there named Holmes. He was writing to a girl in New York state whom he had never seen, and at last they decided to exchange photographs.

"He received hers all right, but Lincoln was in the vicinity at the time, and so Holmes decided to send a photograph of Lincoln to the girl. He did, too, and that ended the correspondence. She never wrote again."

Mr. Batchelder returned to Lowell in 1852 and took up the practice of law, and incidentally took a hand in politics as far as it concerned the schools. He told of some stirring campaigns in the city, in one of which he was defeated while running for office in old ward 5 by just one vote. His stories belie the plaint that "politics has degenerated from the good old days."

He founded the Lowell Co-Operative bank, and for 15 years was prominently connected with it as secretary and treasurer. "But I'm getting pretty deaf, and so I don't do much now," he said. "Still, I feel better than I have for a good many years."

"I liked the west and the life there, but because of my wife's poor health we decided to return east. We have been married nearly 55 years now."

"I attribute at least a portion of my good health and years to my habits of living," said Mr. Batchelder. "I never tasted liquor in my life, and know absolutely nothing about it. I never smoked or chewed tobacco, and since I was 14 years old I have never drunk a cup of coffee or tea. My only drink has been cold water, and I really fail to see why any one should desire anything else."

THE ECLIPSE

WAS OBSERVED BY NUMBER OF PEOPLE LAST NIGHT

The eclipse of the moon which was plainly visible during the early part of last night proved to be a most interesting sight, especially to amateur astronomers.

The shadow on the moon was perfectly circular and it was the first total lunar eclipse in 11 years that was observed without staying up until the small hours of the morning. The moon rose early in the evening, partly eclipsed on its southwestern arc and the eclipse became total at 7:15 p. m. The total eclipse ended at 8:15 and the satellite left the earth's shadow shortly after 9 o'clock.

HELD AN ENTERTAINMENT

An excellent entertainment was held by the primary department of the Fifth Street Baptist church last night. The vestry was prettily decorated for the occasion, and the following program was carried out:

Macdonald, Gena Pratt; "Pussy Answer," Doris Wilson; "The Little Gardener," Walter Hunt; "Friends, Friends and True," Marjory McCurt; "Sleepy Time," Harry Sargent; "Little Gypsy Dandelion," medley, solos by Florence Parker, Bertha Law and Elizabeth Hopkins; "The New Testament," Edith Geddes; "Pa's Old Breaches," Joseph Hollingsworth; "What the Little Shoes Said," Florence Parker; song, "Rock-a-Bye, Baby," Gena Pratt; Mildred and Dorothy White and Marion Miller; "One Thing Lacking," Cella Davis; "Get a Transfer," Mildred Manning; Adeline Walton; Lillian Russett; duet, "Clover Blossoms," Orville and Alice Hollingsworth; "A Trap," Ruth Pearson; "A Remarkable Circus Horse," Charles Day; Japanese song, chorus; "Ten True Friends," Marion Tremblay; "What is Lee?" CHILD'S DREADFUL SKIN TROUBLES

Had Sixty Boils when but Six Months Old—Was Annually Attacked by a Humor—It Looked Red Like a Scald and Spread Over Half Her Head—Both Troubles are Cured.

NO PRAISE TOO HIGH FOR THE CUTICURA REMEDIES

"When my little Vivian was about six months old, her papa had a boil on his forehead. At that time the child was covered with a scaly, itchy eruption, and I suppose in scratching it, her own head became infected for it broke out in boils, one after another. She had these six weeks in all and I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment which cured her of them entirely. Then, sometime later, her little feet got sore between the toes. Being afraid it was salt rheum, I spoke to our doctor. He gave me a powder which dried it up, but soon after it broke out behind her ears. They cracked half way around and the humor spread up on to her head until, on several occasions, it was nearly half covered. The humor looked like a scald, very red with a sticky, clear fluid coming from it. This occurred every year. I think it was toward the spring. I always bathed it with warm water and Cuticura Soap, and applied Cuticura Ointment which never failed to heal it up. The last time it broke out was when she was six years old. It became so bad that I was discouraged. Then I procured a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, which soon cleared it out of her blood. I continued the use of Cuticura Soap and Ointment with the Resolvent until she was perfectly well. She is now about eight years old and has never been troubled in the last two years. We also find Cuticura Resolvent a good remedy for eczema and we are giving the children Cuticura Resolvent Pills as a tonic. We do not think any one can praise Cuticura Remedies too highly. Mrs. M. A. Schwerin, 674 Spring Wells Ave., Detroit, Mich., Feb. 24, 1908."

Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Form of Infantile Eruptions and Skin Diseases of Cuticura Soap (2c) to Cleanse the Skin, Cuticura Ointment (5c) to Heal the Skin, and Cuticura Resolvent Pills (5c) to Purify the Blood, for the cure of all Skin Diseases. Sold throughout the world by the Cutter Drug & Chemical Co., Lowell, Mass.

REV. C. E. FISHER

Mildly Raps the Law & Order League

The meeting of the Republican club at republican headquarters last evening was a "frolic" despite the fact that Rev. Caleb E. Fisher, one of Lowell's most popular clergymen, was to be the speaker. On account of the slim attendance Rev. Mr. Fisher only outlined his address on "The Place of the Minister in Politics."

He gave the minister the credit of intending to do right by the city, to uplift its moral influences and stamp out its bad influences but when it came to mere politics, Mr. Fisher believed that the minister would better stick to his pulpit and have his political effect through teaching the community righteousness. If he felt that he must speak out against conditions existing in a city let him do it from his pulpit and with no uncertain voice. If a minister must hold political office, he felt that he should then resign his pulpit, the two being to him incompatible positions.

Mr. Fisher spoke of local conditions touching upon the work of the Law and Order League here. He said he had never felt called upon to join in the work of the league for he could not bring himself to feel at home in some of the methods utilized. He did not believe that he could ever bring himself to act as a spotter on the streets of the city. He did not wish to criticize the league members or the other pastors of the city. What they did was their business and not his, but for himself, his course was to preach from his pulpit for an effort on the righteousness of the community.

The Mahair quartet gave a couple of pleasing selections after which Edward T. Howard spoke of the need for Lowell people to bring influence to bear on Gov. Draper to appoint a Lowell man or a man from this district or portion of the state on the new state board of education. Lowell with its normal school and textile school has two important institutions, among the most important in the state and Lowell, having never had representation on the state board should now receive its due. A committee is to be appointed to put the matter before the governor.

SUCCESSFUL BALLOON TRIP

PITTSFIELD, June 4.—A moderate wind waited the balloon Massachusetts, from this city toward the Connecticut river yesterday, the car containing William Van Sice, pilot and three Boston newspaper reporters, two passengers, Miss Lois T. Davidson of the Boston Post, Philip H. Page of the Boston Herald and Walter E. Coffey of the Boston Globe.

They made a landing safely in Southwick, between Westfield and Springfield. The ascension was made at 9:45 in the forenoon and it was 7:30 when the balloon hit the earth again in Southwick. The distance is about 15 miles.

TRAILING MACKEREL

NEWPORT, R. I., June 4.—The United States fish commission schooner Grampus, with Capt. J. O. Hansen in charge, and with Captain C. W. of Gloucester on board as a mackerel expert, has returned here from an extended cruise of inspection of the mackerel fisheries. The Grampus has recently cruised about the waters of New York and about the shores of Long Island and N. M. Island, trailing mackerel. The schooner has been equipped and furnished with a valuable amount of data relative to the habits and habits of mackerel, has been completed and forwarded to Washington, together with numerous specimens of the fish from these waters.

Last Tuesday night while the Grampus was engaged in her duties off N. M. Island with dragnets about 20 mackerel were caught and speared for the fish commission and are now in Washington. The work will continue until fall.

PUBLIC HEARING

Heard the plan, England and Germany were the only possible models, he said, and neither of these was a good model for Massachusetts, because in Germany the system was compulsory and in England purely political.

"It is necessary then to fall back on theory," said Mr. Billings. "I do not believe that we are ready for compulsory pensioning, but I believe that it would increase pauperism and make people improvident. They would hesitate to apply to the state, and there would be the same feeling attached to the pension system that applies today to the almshouse."

"And if it is necessary to have old age pensions, why not put them under the charge of the cities, much as the liquor license question is done today?"

Rev. Mr. Billings answered questions asked him by the commissioners, and was followed by ex-Rep. James E. O'Donnell, who expressed himself as heartily in favor of the movement. He said he believed it a step in the line of state insurance, and that it would necessarily have to be compulsory.

Rev. G. C. Wright

Rev. George C. Wright spoke in favor of the movement. He believed it to be in sympathy with the trend of the times. He thought it was only a question of time when the old age pension system would be in force.

Peter Charlton

"I worked for 25 years in the cotton mills, until I was crippled," said Peter Charlton, "and I have savings that are taxed 45 per cent above their market value to support the party bums on the city pay roll."

"The pension system for government and city officials is more than a demoralize the nation than all the run shops in the country for the past forty years. The more men get, the more they want."

"The pension system here and in England has been a curse and a demoralizer. The quicker it is done away with the better."

Dennis Healey

Dennis Healey spoke in favor of the old age pension. He said he believed that it would do away with the present charitable institutions and would prove a benefit to mankind. He pointed out that the most advanced nations of the civilized world already had some such systems in successful operation, and that under present day-labor conditions it was necessary to the happiness and welfare of the poorer classes. He declared the separation of old people to enter institutions after lives of toil.

W. F. Copson

W. F. Copson said that he had come in contact with the poorer working people since he was 36 years of age and had become thoroughly familiar with the conditions surrounding their lives and work. He stated that the average wage of the workman and woman was a poor one, and he believed that the old age pension was a step in the right direction.

Tenjamin Stacey and Joseph Stavely both spoke in favor of the old age pension system, dwelling especially on a point made by Mr. Healey in regard to the separation of aged couples forced to spend the later years of their lives in public institutions.

TEXTILE SCHOOL

United States was valued at something over $400,000,000. I am still in the years of most active business life and yet since my graduation the output of the textile factories in this country has doubled, rising to over $1,200,000,000.

A few years ago we were all discussing the development of the cotton industry, which represents the largest portion of our textile output, as going to emigrate to the south of the production of the staple.

Alexander Hamilton, one of the most able and far-seeing men who decorated much of the development of the cotton industry in this country, stated very much in 1774 that the best place to manufacture cotton cloth would be where it grows and afterwards transport it to the other countries. For the history of the past 100 years is proof in every other statement. The textile industry found its origin and chief center in New England. In my opinion, if you young men whom we look to, to become the leaders of your day, the great center of the textile industry will always be in New England.

At no time in the history of the country has the outlook for New England been brighter than at present. Since 1860 the Massachusetts cotton factories

ORDAINED PRIESTS

Three Lowell Boys at Brighton Seminary

Elevated to Priesthood Today, as Members of Oblate Order—Rev. Edward Fox, O. M. I. Ordained Under a Special Dispensation From Rome

At St. John's seminary, at Brighton, Mass., today four young priests of the Oblate order were ordained by Bishop Brady, three of them being Lowell boys.

The ordinations took place this morning and were attended by many friends of the young theologians.

In former years the ordinations have taken place at the novitiate in Tewksbury, but this year Brighton was the scene of the solemn event.

The three Lowell young men are Revs. Francis McGinn, James McDermott and Edward Fox of the Sacred Heart parish. In the case of Fr. Fox it looked up to the last moment as if his ordination would be delayed as he lacked six months of the necessary age. But at the 11th hour the necessary dispensation from Rome arrived, evidently secured through the good offices of Archbishop O'Connell, and Fr. Fox was invested with his sacred functions with the others. The fourth young man is Rev. Charles McCarthy of Salem, Mass.

Following are brief sketches of the young men:

Rev. Francis X. McGinn, O. M. I., was born in Lowell in 1883, and he is the son of Mrs. Mary McGinn of 64 Otis street. He is a graduate of the Butler school, Lowell, and of Holy Angels college, Buffalo, N. Y. He will celebrate his first high mass at the Sacred Heart church at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning, June 6.

Rev. James McDermott, O. M. I., was born in this city Nov. 29, 1885. He is the son of the late Patrick and Mrs. Margaret McDermott of 51 Agawam street. Fr. McDermott was educated in the Sacred Heart school, graduating in the class of 1895. In the fall of that year he entered the high school and completed a four years' course in 1902. He entered Holy Angels college in September of the same year, and after a year's study there, went to the Tewksbury novitiate, where he continued his scholastic studies. Fr. McDermott will celebrate a low mass at the Sacred Heart church at 9 o'clock Sunday, June 6. He will celebrate his first solemn high mass at the same church on June 13.

Rev. Edward Fox, O. M. I., was born in this city in December, 1885, and he is the son of Patrolman Edward and the late Mrs. Elizabeth Fox. He was educated in the Sacred Heart and Brighton schools, going from the latter in 1899. He finished his classical studies at Holy Angels college in 1902. Fr. Fox has not reached his 24th year, and it was necessary to secure a dispensation from Rome to enable him to be ordained. This came yesterday afternoon.

my thanks to you and congratulate you on the fair and impartial manner in which you have performed your duty as jurors.

Verdicts in Kittredge Case

The jury in the case of McEvoy vs. Kittredge and Parent vs. Kittredge returned their verdicts this morning. In the case of McEvoy the verdict was for the defendant while $150 was awarded to Parent. During the trial of the case the fact was brought out that McEvoy had previous knowledge of a defect in the painter's staging.

Walcott Loses Case

The case of Joe Walcott against the Boston Elevated went to the jury this morning. Judge Stevens charging the jury at the opening of the session. Before the plaintiff's case closed yesterday Walcott was recalled for further cross examination. He was asked if he was the Joseph Walcott who was fined in the Malden police court for different minor offenses such as keeping an unlicensed dog and discharging firearms on the street. He admitted the charges, but thought it was his brother who was arrested for discharging firearms.

Mrs. Alma Wedderlow of Malden testified to seeing Walcott with his lip bleeding, and Chas. M. Harris, a relative by marriage of the plaintiff, told of his condition after he came home. Dennis J. of Malden testified to seeing the conductor kicking the feet, and that Walcott's lip was bleeding.

Some 15 witnesses for the defense were sworn and the first called was Russell A. Sears, chief attorney for the road, who testified that Walcott went to the company's office in 1907 to see if the company was going to prosecute him for smoking on a car; that he was told the company was not so much interested in that as in the language used by him before the passengers. This he denied, and promised if he was let off this time he would never make any more trouble by smoking on a car. This was several months prior to the alleged assault, for which Walcott now seeks to recover damages.

Charles E. Lohs, the conductor on the car testified that Walcott got on the platform with a lighted cigar in his hand and when told not to smoke replied with an oath that he would smoke where he pleased. Witnesses then called the motorman and told Walcott to get off. Joe grabbed the car rails and refused to move. Witnesses and the motorman then put him off.

"He came back with his fists swinging this way," said the conductor, and to block him, I put out my foot and shoved him off."

The conductor also said that he had had serious trouble with Walcott before. Had occasion to warn him 10 or 15 times, not to smoke on the car; and in June, 1907, he made a report to the office, complaining that Walcott smoked and swore on the cars.

Also, after trying to enter the car the second time, Walcott said, "You kicked me, didn't you? Now I can pay you."

Motorman Chisholm corroborated the testimony of the preceding witness and stated that he had had trouble with Walcott previously. Mr. Saltonstall, attorney for the case, reminded the jury that Walcott swore and told his coarse up for the smiling genius who appeared on the witness stand.

Judge Stevens charged the jury to find the facts and bring out the truth, and the jury after being out nearly an hour returned a verdict for the defendant.

MR. ROOSEVELT

STARTS ON VISIT TO AFRICA MISSION

KIMBER, British East Africa, June 4.—The members of the Roosevelt party who spent the night in camp near the railroad station here, started out this morning to visit the local station of the Africa inland mission, an American organization. This morning Mr. Roosevelt spent some time shooting monkeys, particularly the colobus.

Mr. J. Cunningham, the manager of the expedition and L. A. Taiton of Nairobi will stay at camp today completing the preparations to start on the trip into the Sotik country. To reach this territory the party will have to travel two days without meeting water.

PHILADELPHIA STRIKE

Prospects Are That It Will be Settled Soon

PHILADELPHIA, June 4.—Prospects for a settlement of the strike of the employees of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Co. are brighter today than at any time since the strike began. Both sides have agreed to make concessions and predictions are made that there will be a complete resumption of street car service by tomorrow. This has been brought about by the republican leaders of the city whose plans for tomorrow's primary elections have been interfered with this week by the turbulence.

After a conference in city hall, which lasted until 3 o'clock this morning, Mayor Reyburn made public a letter addressed to John B. Parsons, president of the transit company, in which he offers terms for a settlement of a strike. In his letter the mayor states that he had been impelled to take a hand in settling the trouble because of the riotous outbreaks during the last few days and that he had been in communication with the men to find a common ground upon which to negotiate a settlement.

"As a result of these conferences," he continues, "I suggest the following points of agreement which if accepted by the company I have reason to believe will result in the immediate resumption of your regular schedules of service."

"All former employees shall be restored to their former positions. Arrangements to be made by which a standard uniform adopted by the company may be purchased by your employees from any one of the no less than five reputable clothiers."

"Your employees to form a representative body to consist of one of their number elected by a majority vote from each burn, which body shall in turn designate a smaller working committee of its own members which shall from time to time be accorded full opportunity to take up with the proper officers of the company any and all questions affecting the rights of employees."

"This committee to take up at once with the management of the company the schedules with a view of making such changes in hours and working conditions as are consistent with proper service to the public."

"The rate of wages beginning July 1, 1909, to be 22 cents an hour."

"These conditions to continue for one, two or three years as may be agreed upon with such committee."

President Parsons made an immediate reply, in which he said:

"After communicating with such members of the board as I have been able to reach I answer that the company accepts your suggestion and stands ready to carry them out in their full intent and spirit."

The terms of settlement were arranged by State Senator McNichol, the leader of the Philadelphia republican organization, and C. O. Pratt, the strike leader, and submitted to each side before the formal letters were exchanged between the mayor and the company. The strikers met today at their several headquarters and selected delegates to a conference to be held later in the day when the agreement is expected to be ratified.

The city early today was quiet. There is no improvement in the street car service over that of yesterday and with a heavy rain falling the discomforts of the public is greater than ever.

CAMBRIDGE MAN

Lost His Life Trying to Save Hat

CAMBRIDGE, June 4.—The belief that Edward McDonald, a young man living on Hampshire street, this city, lost his life in an attempt to save a new straw hat was confirmed today when his body was found floating in the Charles river near the West Boston bridge. McDonald and a companion were crossing the bridge from Boston to Cambridge last Saturday night, when McDonald's new straw hat blew over into the water. The young man clambered down the side of the bridge, in an attempt to recover the hat and was not seen again. The police have been dragging the river, but the body was not discovered until today when a little girl saw it floating in the water and notified a policeman. McDonald was 25 years of age and lived at 89 Hampshire street.

FIRST PHOTOS OF "THE HOPE OF HOLLAND," PRINCESS JULIANA, AND HER PARENTS

THE HAGUE, June 4.—These are the first photographs of the baby Princess Juliana Louise Emma Marie Wilhelmina of Holland, who was born to Queen Wilhelmina on April 20 and whose arrival sent a thrill of joy to the heart of every Netherlander alive. The pictures were taken by an attaché of the castle. In one the queen is kneeling beside the little princess, and in the other the prince consort is holding her reverently in his arms. Doubtless no royal infant ever was more proudly welcomed than Princess Juliana, for after the people of The Netherlands had twice seen their hopes dashed they had begun to fear for their independence, because a German prince probably would have come to the throne of Holland, ultimately in the event of there being no direct heir. And Juliana has been showered with gifts as no other baby ever was. From every part of the world costly presents have come to her, and when she is wheeled out for an airing the people strew flowers in her path. The first soldier to salute her received a purse of gold from the prince, her father. The lucky fellow, a sergeant on duty at one of the gates to the palace grounds, saw a perambulator approaching, and, suddenly divining that it contained the princess, he faced about, stood at attention and brought his rifle to "present." The prince, who was standing at a window in the castle, was so touched by the incident that he promptly rewarded the sergeant.

According to the Fisk family physician, Dr. James L. Whenton, death was due to lack of nourishment. Mrs. Fisk was 57 years of age and was the wife of a prominent druggist of this city. An illness which had made inactive the digestive organs had brought on her death.

THEATRE VOYONS
The motion picture theatre of today conducted on the high class lines of the Theatre Voyons is of an inspiring and beautiful nature. Two of the feature pictures shown there today can well illustrate this, "The London Zoo" shows nearly a score of different animals in exact reproductions of their native haunts and they do many interesting things. "What Drink Did?" is the strongest temperance argument that has been advanced in Lowell for many months and the best of it is the story that the picture tells is a most interesting one. "Brothers in Arms" an American military picture, is just what the lovers of war pictures want, for its plot is new and it is magnificently staged. The comedies are laughable and plentiful. The musical selections are not one bit behind the pictures for a better sung duet than "The Pilot Brave," is seldom heard. "Liza" goes well as a quartet and May Whitty has a fine solo.

STAR THEATRE
Eva Tanguay, the highest paid woman in vaudeville, and other celebrities on the American stage, all of whom perform in the best known houses in the largest cities throughout the country to people who pay admission prices ranging from 75 cents to $2.50, will be seen at the Star theatre Monday for the first time in Lowell. Now a word in explanation will not be amiss as the theatre-going public of Lowell will ask how can the management do it for an admission of five cents, which includes a seat.

To begin with, the management has the exclusive rights in this city to operate the cameraphone. Officials of the Cameraphone Co. pay Eva Tanguay and others about $500 per day to present their respective acts before a moving picture machine, that is, the machine that presents the entire act on a film. While this is being done a machine like—well, like a monster photograph, catches every word in a song or speaking parts. The machines work in unison and the act is presented in detail, just as one would see it in one of the large theatres. The reproduction has reached the zenith of perfection. It will fairly amaze the audiences. For 25 weeks it has been the principal attraction at a Boston theatre, and bids well to remain for many more.

Eva Tanguay, singing her famous song, "I Don't Care," will be seen and heard with Thompson and Ray, "The Heart and the Girl." Then there will be stars on the bill who are participating in the big musical extravaganza, "Rufus Raffles." That is only one part of the program. Here is the other: "Anactor night," which the Cameraphone Co. claim is the best thing ever produced. It will be given. It is full of the funniest stunts in vaudeville. James J. Morton, the famous boy comic, will be seen and heard, as will Cameron and Gordon in their "Sunset Serenade."

Remember this: It is not a photograph you will see, but the acts, which can be had by any theatrical manager for $1000, and sometimes $2000 a week, reproduced as they are being presented at the present time. It is one of the most novel things ever introduced for amusement purposes in this city. You will get, blanching Harry Lauder, James J. Corbett, Blanche Ring, Keston Tilly and not only hear every word in talk and song, but hear and see the acts in full! Come and you will say "marvelous!" To close with, the first performances will be Monday afternoon. On Thursdays there will be a complete change of program. The admission of five cents, which has always prevailed at the theatre under the present management, will remain the same, and it will include a seat. It is still "the biggest and best show in Lowell."

Electric fans have been installed at the theatre, which already has proved a mercy for men, women and children on warm, sultry days.

Ladies' Day, Thursdays, Turkish Baths, Middle St. Experienced attendants in charge. Everything renovated.

LITTLE CANADA

QUESTION OF THE PUBLIC PARK CONSIDERED

The committee on the Little Canada park and the park commission held a joint meeting at city hall last night just to talk matters over a bit. The meeting was called to order at about 8 o'clock and after some debate it was decided that the best method to adopt would be the lease of a certain five and one-half acres of land at the corner of Alaska and Perkins streets on which to erect shelter houses and playgrounds with necessary equipment. It is also planned to put on a layer of top dressing.

Both bodies thought that such a park so arranged could be maintained at an exceedingly small cost to the city, and would answer every demand of the situation in that section of Lowell. Supt. Whitty was instructed to prepare an estimate of the costs, and if they are as low as it is believed they will be, both bodies will report to the city government in favor of carrying the plan through.

The park commission has instructed Engineer Powers to draw up specifications for a fence to be erected along the easterly bank of the Anne and Burton streets canal. Inasmuch as this bank is to be used as a park, it is felt that a fence of a substantial character should be built. Engineer Powers believes that a fence four feet high should be built for a distance of 100 feet from Merrimack street, and a fence 2 1/2 feet high should be built the rest of the distance, the fence to be of iron. The extra half foot near Merrimack street is deemed necessary because of the fact that the swirling water at this point makes it a difficult matter to rescue a person from drowning. The Anne street park will be ready for use sometime in July.

AN INCREASE

IN EXPORTS OF COTTON CLOTHS TO CHINA

China is, as a rule, the largest purchaser of American cottons, but in the years 1907 and 1908 the exports of cotton cloths to that country fell to a small fraction of those of the immediately preceding years. Exports of cotton cloths to China averaged in the fiscal years 1905 and 1906 436 million yards per annum; in 1907 and 1908 they averaged but 63 millions per annum, or one-seventh as much as the average of 1905-6. In the fiscal year 1906 the quantity of cotton cloths exported to China aggregated 498,521,492 yards; in the fiscal year 1908, only two years later, the quantity was 49,875,671, or just one-tenth as much as in 1906.

This large falling off in the exports of cotton cloths to our formerly largest customer, China, was due chiefly at least, to the fact that the imports of that country in 1905 and 1906 were abnormally large and far in excess of the actual consuming power of that market. North China, especially Manchuria, supplies the principal market of that country for American cottons, and when the termination of the Russo-Japanese war indicated that the doors of that section would be again opened to commerce the importations of cottons, and especially American cottons, into China were enormously increased, and as a consequence our exports of cotton cloths to China advanced from 77 million yards in 1904 to 415 millions in 1905 and 499 millions in 1906, while Chinese imports of cottons from other countries also enormously increased.

This large increase of importations proved to be far in excess of the consuming power of China as a whole, and especially of North China, whose financial conditions had been so affected by events during the war as to reduce its purchasing power below the estimates upon which the large importations had been based. As a consequence, cotton goods from all parts of the world, and especially from the United States, accumulated in enormous quantities in the "godowns," as the warehouses of the Orient are designated. Thus the large reduction in purchases of cotton by China, which followed this excessive importation of 1905 and 1906, and the consequent fall of our exports to that country in 1907 and 1908, occasioned little surprise to those familiar with the facts above noted; while the increase in the current fiscal year, 1909, is in turn the natural result of the absorption in that country of the accumulated stocks and a return to normal demands upon the sections of the world from which China has been accustomed to draw her supplies of foreign-made cotton cloths.

The April export statement of the Bureau of Statistics of the department of commerce and labor shows clearly the marked increase of exports of cottons to China and the return toward normal conditions. In the single month of April the quantity of cotton goods exported to China was 16,786,548 yards against 7,227,119 in April of last year, and in the 12 months ending with April, 1909, the total exports of cotton cloths to China was 100,116,737 yards, against 30,597,101 yards in the corresponding period of 1908. This total of 100 million yards of cottons sent to China in the 10 months ending with April, 1909, is larger than in any corresponding period prior to 1899, and has only been exceeded on six occasions, namely in 1899, 1900, 1902, 1903, 1905 and 1906. For the month of April alone the exports of cottons to China are larger than in that month of any prior year except 1902, 1903, 1905 and 1906.

The cotton goods trade with China has shown, during the last decade a much greater fluctuation than that with other parts of the world. In the decade ending with 1899 there was a steady upward trend but no violent changes. In 1899, however, the exports suddenly increased, being more than double those of the immediately preceding year, while in 1900 they were slightly less than in 1899. In 1901 the total dropped to less than half that of 1900 or 1899; in 1902 and 1903 it again attained a higher mark than in any earlier years; in 1904 it dropped to about one-fourth that of the average of 1902 and 1903; in 1905 and 1906 was, as already indicated, far the largest in the history of that trade; in 1907 and 1908 dropped to a small fraction of the 1905 and 1906 average; and in 1909 is again showing recovery. The trade with other countries of the world has shown very slight fluctuations; the total exports to all countries other than China being in the ten months ending with April, 1899, $1 million yards; 1895, 124 millions; 1900, 123 millions; 1905, 172 millions; and 1909, 190 millions—these figures being in all cases for the ten months ending with April.

To no other country are the exports as large as to China, even in the years of depression. In 1908, with the lowest record of exports to China during the last 15 years, the value of cotton cloths sent to that country was more than twice as great as to any other country, China coming next in rank, then Chile, British Australasia, Philippine Islands, Colombia and Canada, in the order named. In the ten months ending with April, 1909, the quantity of cotton cloths sent to China was 100,116,737 yards, against 22,238,500 to Aden, Arabia, 15,863,333 to Cuba, 12,943,233 to Colombia, 10,467,057 to British East Indies, and 8,836,501 to the Philippine Islands.

When consideration of the figures of the cotton goods trade with China for single years is liable to be misleading because of the great fluctuations in that trade, it may be said that the growth of movements of American cotton cloths to China has been in recent years much greater than to other parts of the world. The total value of cotton cloths exported to China in the decade ending with 1903 slightly exceeded that to all other countries of the world combined, while the decade ending with 1898 those to China were not more than one-half as great as those to all other parts of the world. In quality and prices the cotton cloths sent to China differ considerably from those sent to other parts of the world, being as a rule heavier goods, intended for the temperate climate of North China, the prices, however, being slightly less, the average export price of the cottons sent to China usually ranging a fraction of a cent per yard lower than the average sent to all other parts of the world.

JOHN M. WARD

MAY BE MADE NATIONAL LEAGUE PRESIDENT

NEW YORK, June 4.—The meeting of the National league magnates in Cincinnati today will be merely an impromptu session and no action, it is understood, will be taken on the question of restoring Harry Pulliam to the presidency. This matter will be definitely settled at a meeting to be held in Chicago later in the month. August Hermann of the Cincinnati club, it is said, will stand by Pulliam and so will Robinson of St. Louis; Dreyfus of Pittsburgh; Durham of Philadelphia and Dovey of Boston. The New York club desires John Montgomery Ward as president of the national league.

COLLEGE HEADS HEARD

CONCORD, N. H., June 4.—President Woodrow Wilson of Princeton university and President Henry A. Garfield of Williams college, the latter an alumnus, spoke yesterday at the luncheon which was one of the features of the closing days of anniversary week at St. Paul's school. President Wilson took a pessimistic view of existing education conditions but President Garfield predicted that a way out of the maze would be found and that President Wilson would be the leader.

LIBEL DISMISSED

NEW YORK, June 4.—The libel filed by the steamship United States of the Scandinavian line and the steamship Monterey of the New York & Cuba Mail steamship company, for $250,000, was dismissed by Judge Adams of the admiralty branch of the United States district court in a decision handed down yesterday. The counter libel filed by the Monterey for $50,000 was sustained.

The litigation grew out of a collision on April 16, 1908. The United States signalled the smaller vessel of her intention to pass and it was alleged that a response signal of "all right" was given by the Monterey. The United States is held to have been responsible for the accident, in which she was so badly rammed as to necessitate running her ashore for repairs.

FOREST FIRES RAGING

DETROIT, Mich., June 4.—A special to the News from Negaunee, Mich., says that forest fires have again broken out in Marquette county, and that three towns are threatened with destruction. Many farmers and homesteaders have lost their homes, and fishing and camping parties have been forced to flee for their lives.

PRESENTED BOUQUET

Superior Court Jurors Honor Judge Stevens

Judge Stevens today concluded his duties as presiding justice over the present term of the superior court session with jurors after nine weeks' continuous sitting, and upon assuming the bench this morning he was most pleasantly surprised to find before him a huge bouquet of beautiful flowers attached to which was a set of gracefully written resolutions signed by every juror on the panel, testifying to the esteem in which his Honor is held by the members of the panel and expressing regret that other duties had called him away from the present session.

Judge Stevens will succeed Judge Stevens on Monday and today Judge Stevens devoted the afternoon to the hearing of motions, finishing up all outstanding business before leaving the bench.

The last case to be heard by him was called shortly before noon today and after a jury had been empaneled

EVADED CAR FARE

Alfred Parrott pleaded guilty in police court today to being drunk and evading payment of car fare on the Boston & Maine R. R., between Boston and Lowell. He was fined $10 for evading car fare and $2 for drunkenness.

Severe Sentence
 Powell Reay, who was before the police court a short time ago and was given a chance to go to Montreal, forgot to go north and since that time has been "hanging" around Lowell, frequenting the saloons. It was his fourth offense and he was sentenced to six months in jail, from which sentence he appealed.

Frequent Visitor
 Joseph F. Gill, who was before the court the day before yesterday was arrested again yesterday and this morning in court was sentenced to 20 days in jail.

Sentence Postponed
 Thomas Heffran, a third offender, denied that he was drunk. Patrolman Peasley said that Heffran's wife and the people living in the block where he resides, complained of Heffran and when the officer arrived he found the man fighting drunk. Heffran pleaded to be given another chance, but Probation Officer Slattery said that he had no confidence in the man. His position of the case was postponed until Mrs. Heffran could be conferred with.

A Fifth Offender
 It was John Ward's fifth appearance within a year. He will spend the next five months in jail.

Suspension Revoked
 Hector Greiner, who was under a suspended sentence of four months in jail was surrendered by the probation officer yesterday and this morning he was committed to jail.

Third Offender
 Henry A. Gaddy made a plea for clemency, but it availed him little, for

FIVE ARRESTED

On Suspicion of Being Counterfeiters

NEWARK, N. J., June 4.—Four men and a woman, all Italians, were arrested here today on suspicion of being counterfeiters or being concerned in passing counterfeit money. The police found a number of two dollar bills in a trunk in the house similar to many such bills which have been circulated in this city recently.

A LIVELY SCRAP

At Portuguese Celebration in This City

The story of the affair in Lincoln hall last Sunday afternoon when Patrolman Joseph Clark was assaulted while trying to place a disturber under arrest was aired before Judge Mallo in police court this morning. Manuel Mallo was charged with drunkenness and assault on an officer, while Armando and Antonio Borba were charged with drunkenness and interfering with an officer during the performance of his duty.

According to the testimony offered Mallo had partaken of a great deal of the liquor that was being served in the hall and when the barkeepers thought he had enough they told the officer to put him out. Mallo started to make trouble and assaulted the officer, and his two friends the Borba brothers interfered and tried to take Mallo away from Patrolman Clark.

In the scrimmage that followed, the officer was kicked and punched and was getting used rather badly when assistance arrived on the scene. In court this morning J. Joseph O'Connor appeared for the defendants and pleas of not guilty were entered. The prosecution was conducted by Acting Superintendent Redmond Walsh.

Patrolman Joseph Clark testified that he was on duty at a Portuguese party in Lincoln hall, Gorham street, Sunday afternoon. There were about 20 kegs of beer and several vessels filled with wine. Mallo had been hitting the wet goods pretty freely and these in charge of the dispensing of the liquor refused to give Mallo any more and told the officer to send him upstairs. Mallo refused to leave the temporary bar and when the officer tried to quiet him he turned and struck the officer on the head. The patrolman closed in on Mallo and had him well in hand when Antonio and Armando Borba arrived on the scene and tried to take Mallo away from the officer. In the scrimmage that ensued witness said he was roughly used, his head punched and kicked, his club taken from him, his badge torn from his coat and his clothing pulled and torn.

On cross-examination witness said that he had received orders to allow any and all members of the organization to enter the hall, and if any non-member got into the place one of the officials of the society would notify the officer to put them out.

Witness admitted that there was a difference of opinion as to whether or not Mallo should be put out of the hall. Some shouted for the officer to put him out while others told the officer to allow him to remain.

INDIANS LEAVE

Strange Rumblings Have Been Heard

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., June 4.—Manuel Lopez, who arrived last night from San Jacinto mountains, brings information concerning strange rumblings heard for many weeks. He declares the Indians are leaving with all their superstitious fears aroused. Lopez made a thorough investigation and believes the sounds come from a subterranean waterfall which he says probably caused the earth tremors thereabouts. His statement substantially corroborates that of others arriving from this region. He declares there is no cause for alarm.

THE YALE

WAS IN COLLISION WITH FERRY-BOAT BREMEN

NEW YORK, June 4.—The Metropolitan line steamer Yale, plying between New York and Boston was in collision in the North river today with the Lackawanna ferryboat Bremen. The Yale was only slightly damaged, losing a portion of her rail, but the Bremen's side was badly stove in and part of the upper works on the port side carried away. An incipient panic among the passengers on the Bremen was checked when it was seen that the heat was in no danger of sinking. They were speedily landed as were the Yale's passengers, among whom there was little excitement over the collision.

Noah, Ky. — "I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from headaches, nervous prostration, and hemorrhages. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me well and strong, so that I can do all my household work, and attend to the store and post-office, and feel much younger than I really am."

The Change of Life is the most critical period of a woman's existence, and neglect of health at this time invites disease and pain.

Women, very honestly should remember that there is other remedy now to medicine this will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs.

For 30 years it has been curing women from the worst forms of female ills—Inflammation, ulceration, displacement, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, and nervous prostration.

LAST TWO DAYS

Of This Electrifying Offer for Lowell

A. Edward Baer, a little over two years ago opened one of the handsomest tailor shops in Boston at 163 Devonshire St. Catering to a high class trade, his elaborately fitted store contained only the finest foreign and American wools. His stock was noted for its extreme taste and conservatism. Looking it over a few days ago at the call of the assignee, I was at once struck with the care that had been exercised in its selection. There wasn't a yard of wools in the store that could not be considered a $35.00 suit value as high priced tailoring is appraised.

The Boston Woolen Co. outbid Mitchell with the intention to sell the stock to another tailor in its entirety—and found with sorrow that I was the only tailor in Boston with the ready cash to buy and they sent for me to take the goods at my price. I have made this purchase at a time when I am already overstocked with wools, and it is my intention not to carry over a yard of it. Wools from this stock were placed in my store this morning that you may be able to judge their value and verify all that I have said for them. See them and handle them without solicitation, and when you have made a selection call one of my salesmen and the price for suit to order will be $10.00.

OPEN EVENINGS

THE TARIFF BILL

Was Debated During Night Session of the Senate

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The atmosphere of the chamber was surged with electricity last night when the tariff bill was taken up at 8 o'clock in the first night session since congress was convened. There were 34 senators present. Every republican senator who is in the city, except Mr. LaFollette, was in his seat and his absence was made the subject of criticism that involved the sincerity of his attitude on the tariff bill, and finally descended to serious attacks upon him by conservative republicans in charge of the bill and spirited defence from insurgents and democrats. Finally the tense situation was smoothed over, but another outbreak is threatened and is almost to occur when the Wisconsin senator again gets the floor.

Growing out of a recess taken in the senate yesterday, in order to give Mr.

LaFollette an opportunity to recover from the ill effects of over-exhaustion during his speech, and his failure to be on hand last night to resume his remarks, some senators sought to show that he had received unusual consideration. Mr. Beveridge, in defending Mr. LaFollette, asserted that no senator would question that Mr. LaFollette was ill and needed the rest. Mr. Penrose declared that he would be able to prove that Mr. LaFollette was well enough to be allowed in the senate "consulting with the representatives of yellow journals and uplift magazines."

Mr. Beveridge suggested that the senate should adjourn for a reasonable time to give Mr. LaFollette an opportunity to recover and resume his speech.

Mr. Aldrich opposed the suggestion, saying that while the senators sympathized with Mr. LaFollette there was no reason why Mr. Beveridge should not make his own speech if he desired.

Mr. Beveridge immediately interrupted Mr. Aldrich and refused to yield further to him, saying, "I decline to yield because it is not a question of sympathy, and in the second place I have no speech to make."

His feeling was apparent on every side. Mr. Dilliver suggested that Mr. Aldrich might take the opportunity to make certain statements which, he said, had been promised to the senate for four weeks. Mr. Aldrich replied he would select his own time to make any speech that he desired.

Declaring that Mr. LaFollette had been offensive and insulting to him when he had asked permission to interrupt the senator from Wisconsin, Mr. Gallinger (N. H.) said that an unusual courtesy had been shown Mr. LaFollette Wednesday when the senate took a recess in the middle of the day to give Mr. LaFollette time to recover his strength.

"It has been a part of customary tactics of the senator from Wisconsin," said Mr. Penrose, "to plead illness in the midst of his speeches and under that plea to absent himself from the chamber while in fact it is generally known that he was consulting with the representatives of yellow journals and the editors of uplift magazines."

Jumping into the breach Mr. Borah sharply criticized the propriety of making charges against a senator in his absence. Mr. Dilliver followed with a declaration that he had sat near Mr. LaFollette when he was speaking yesterday and that it did not require the services of a physician to prove that he was suffering severely from the strain of his efforts and the heat. Mr. Money, defending the Wisconsin senator declared that he could hear him breathing heavily and that he had been told by Sen. Hatch that this was audible across the chamber.

To end the discussion Mr. Aldrich suggested that the senate passed over the cotton schedule temporarily and proceed to the consideration of the flax and hemp schedule.

This met with general approval, but was followed by further discussion on the question of courtesy extended to senators taken ill while in possession of the floor in which Senators Beveridge, Dilliver, Money, Lodge and Gallinger all took part.

The senate proceeded with the flag schedule and Mr. Bradley (Ky.) offered an amendment taking jute and jute butts from the free list and assessing a duty of one-half cent a pound.

An amendment offered by Mr. Aldrich making the duty on threads made of flax or hemp yarn finer than five lea 12½ cents per pound was also adopted.

A more specific construction of the wording of the paragraph making straw matting dutiable, and increasing the duty on the finer grades of matting, proposed by Mr. Hale, was agreed to.

A paragraph on cotton bagging was passed over. Mr. Aldrich promising Mr. Tillman that the finance committee would give its careful consideration in order that it may be prepared to insist on its amendment in conference if it should decide to reduce or abolish the duty on cotton bagging.

An amendment offered by Mr. Aldrich placing a duty of 75 per cent ad valorem on tannins when mixed with other vegetable substances and treated, was adopted.

The sundries schedule was then taken up and several minor committee amendments specifically placing real horse hair and spangles in the dutiable list were agreed to.

A re-wording of the house bill, placing a duty of 10 per cent ad valorem on button forms, was agreed to, as well as an amendment making all straw braids for hats dutiable at 15 per cent ad valorem, whether bleached, dyed, colored, stained or not. The house provision placing a duty of 50 per cent ad valorem on snap fasteners or clasps was restored.

Two paragraphs on tops and fire-works, substituted for the house provision were agreed to.

A duty of 55 per cent ad valorem was placed upon wax and fancy matches and tapers. Red feathers, raw and manufactured, were assessed a duty of 10 per cent ad valorem. The paragraph on furs was changed so as to levy a duty of 20 per cent ad valorem on dog, goat or sheepskins which have been sewed together instead of the 25 per cent duty as reported by the finance committee.

Mr. Aldrich introduced a substitute for the paragraph placing a duty of 50 per cent ad valorem on jewelry by which specific rates were placed on a long list of articles of jewelry. Mr. Aldrich said the new paragraph would prevent under-valuation and would increase the revenue. It was agreed to.

An amendment offered by Mr. Root (N. Y.) to differentiate between real precious stones, such as diamonds and rubies, and semi-precious stones, was passed over at the request of Mr. Aldrich, but an amendment offered by Mr. Lodge specifically naming imitation pearls in the provision placing a duty of 20 per cent ad valorem on imitation precious stones was agreed to.

The most important amendment adopted was a reduction in the duty on common gloves for women and children from $1.75 to $1.25 per dozen. The balance of the glove schedule, which was a restoration of the Dingley rates for the house provisions which were considerably higher was agreed to.

The amendment was offered by Mr. Aldrich.

Quills were made dutiable at 35 per cent ad valorem and a 50 per cent duty was placed on combs of horn or metal, on which the house rate was 10 per cent.

The committee amendments to the paragraphs on works of art were agreed to.

The senate adjourned at 11 o'clock.

AN APPEAL

TO PRES. TAFT FOR JUSTICE IN WOOLEN INDUSTRY

WASHINGTON, June 4.—"Even handed justice in the woolen industry was the alleged object of an appeal made to President Taft yesterday, by a delegation of the Carded Woolen Manufacturers' association, representing nearly every state in the country. This delegation charged that under the present woolen schedule, the wool grower is deprived of the expected protection, the carded woolen manufacturer is deprived of all access to the foreign wool suited to his requirements, while the worsted spinners enjoy valuable special privileges by being permitted to import wool at a very low duty per pound. They demand the abolition of discrimination and special privileges under the law, claim that the secured wool clause of the Dingley and Payne tariff bills constitute a burdensome discrimination against the interests, arraigned what they regard as the practically prohibitory duties on the by-products of wool manufacturing, characterized the present wool schedule as practically that of 1867, which was primarily a war revenue tax, and advocated an ad valorem tariff as the only complete remedy. They expressed indignation at their treatment by the senate finance committee which they characterized as "the subordination of the principles of fair play to a coalition of forces specially favored under the Dingley bill."

AN INTERNATIONAL PEACE ARMY NEEDED.

Peace, peace, universal peace, is something for which the world sighs, Christians labor and statesmen strive against the intrigues of ambitious princes and men who want an opportunity to display what they flatter themselves is military genius.

It was Milton who said that "Peace hath her victories no less renowned than war." Washington that, "There is nothing so likely to produce peace as to be well prepared to meet the enemy." In the bible we read: "They shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks: nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more."

In the bible also we read: "Blessed are the peace-makers for they shall be called the children of God."

In spite of these texts, however, it is clear that conditions may arise to justify war. This idea was expressed by the great Kossuth when he said: "I am a man of peace. God knows how I love peace. But I hope I shall never be such a coward as to mistake oppression for peace."

Douglas Jerrold said: "We love peace as we abhor pusillanimity; but not peace at any price. There is a peace more destructive of the manhood of living man than war is destructive of his material body. Chains are worse than bayonets."

But from the contemplation of peace let us turn to the horrors of war briefly described by General Sherman as "Hell."

It was Burke who so truly said: "War suspends the rules of moral obligation, and what is long suspended is in danger of being totally abrogated."

"War," said Fielding, "is the sink of all iniquity," and it was Ben Franklin's opinion that: "There never was a good war or a bad peace."

"Every war," says Bovee, "involves a greater or less relapse into barbarism. War, indeed, in its details, is the essence of inhumanity. It dehumanizes. It may save the state but it destroys the citizen."

It is needless to dilate further upon the beauties of peace or the horrors of war. The people of this country have ample evidence of the horrors of war and on every hand reminders of its victims. Yet our wars have probably been conducted on lines more humane and honorable than most of the great wars in history.

The wars of Napoleon, the Russo-Japanese war and more recently the Turkish revolution, were all conducted on more barbarous lines than were any of our American wars.

In the revolution by which this nation was founded, the magnanimity of Washington pervaded his armies and prevented all unnecessary cruelty in conquering the enemy.

In the Civil war and our subsequent conflicts of minor importance, the rules of civilized warfare were strictly observed so that there was no such thing as the exercise of wanton cruelty towards the enemy when they fell into our hands. Not so, however, in some of the old world conflicts, such, for example, as the recent Turkish revolution which was an exhibition of the wildest fanaticism that the whole civilized world should rise up to condemn.

As in former uprisings under the sway of Abdul Hamid, poor, persecuted Armenia was the chief object of the infuriated soldiery, chafing to vent their rage on the Christian sects.

If we are to have universal peace it will not come by the method of every country taking Washington's advice so as to be always prepared to meet the enemy.

This nation has been working on that policy ever since the Civil war, and never more emphatically so than during the past few years during which ex-President Roosevelt urged the necessity of a peace compelling navy.

While we were building up a large navy, the other great nations took good care not to be left behind. England set out to keep ten per cent. ahead of the next two great powers in the strength of her navy. While she was following this policy, publicly announced, Germany stole a march on her and turned out so many battleships that England on learning the facts was badly shocked. Now she has redoubled her energies and increased her taxes so as to get ready to repel a German invasion.

Thus rival powers keep the peace of the world always in peril, and still the work of increasing armaments from the strongest to the weakest goes on unceasingly. Under such conditions, where is the hope of universal peace? Nowhere except in The Hague tribunal which is powerless to enforce its decrees.

What is needed in addition to The Hague tribunal is an international fleet and an international army, supported by the great powers for the purpose of preserving the peace of the world. If disputes arise let them be settled by arbitration. There are rulers such as Emperor Wilhelm who believe the map of the world should be changed just as often as an ambitious potentate like himself experiences a thirst for conquest. Nothing can prevent such men from causing war except the interposition of an international force such as we have suggested, ready at all times to move against any power that insists upon disturbing the peace of the world by declaring war. This power should be maintained by the combined powers and should be under the direction of The Hague tribunal or of a council of the powers, authorized to direct this force so as to preserve so far as possible universal peace and to force arbitration of all international disputes. Under present conditions we can never have such a thing as security against war, for seldom will the danger of war wholly disappear even in times of peace, and this gives every great power a pretext for keeping ever in readiness to enter into a deadly conflict with some rival nation.

It is thus we are always on the verge of war, always on the edge of a volcano, as it were, awaiting the eruption. It is a disgraceful condition to prevail at this stage of the world's advancement and civilization and one that should be supplanted by a lasting covenant for universal peace so that the world could pursue the arts of civilization without the ever present dread of relentless and devastating war.

Veteran Lawyer Observed His Birthday Anniversary

George Washington Batchelder, the veteran lawyer and banker, observed the 82nd anniversary of his birth yesterday at his home, 65 Arlington street. Despite his advanced years, Mr. Batchelder is still active and enjoying the best of health. He was at his office in the heart of the business district today, as he is every working day, and few if any would take this active business man to be over four score years. Mr. Batchelder was born in Middlebury, N. H., June 4, 1827, and spent the early days of his life on his father's farm. He received but a meagre education in the public schools. He came to this city when he was 14 years of age and was admitted to the Massachusetts bar in 1852, and two years later was admitted to practice of law in the courts of Illinois. Mr. Batchelder took of some interesting experiences in the west. He occupied many public positions while in Illinois and took an active part in a political fight while a resident of Hancock county, Illinois. In speaking of his experiences, Mr. Batchelder said: "They called me a 'Black Abolitionist,' said Mr. Batchelder, in telling of his experiences, 'and the country was democratic by about 200 or 300 votes. But I was elected county superintendent of schools for four or five years, and acted in a similar capacity for about four years more. I suppose I have examined about a thousand teachers while I was in Illinois. "I met and talked with Lincoln, and I heard him in his debates with Douglas. I was a pretty young fellow then, and I played in the band and was present at one of the great debates. "Lincoln was a homely man—there

CHILD'S DREADFUL SKIN TROUBLES

Had Sixty Boils when but Six Months Old—Was Annually Attacked by a Humor—It Looked Red Like a Scald and Spread Over Half Her Head—Both Troubles are Cured.

NO PRAISE TOO HIGH FOR THE CUTICURA REMEDIES

"When my little Vivian was about six months old, her papa had a boil on his forehead. At that time the child was covered with prickly heat and I suppose in scratching it, her own head became infected for it broke out in boils, one after another. She had about sixty in all and I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment which cured her of them entirely. Then, sometime later, her little feet got sore between the toes. Being afraid it was salt rheum, I spoke to our doctor. He gave me a powder which dried it up, but soon after it broke out below the ears. They cracked half way around and the humor spread up on to her head until, on several occasions, it was nearly half covered. The humor looked like a scald, very red with a sticky, clear fluid coming from it. This occurred every year. I think it was toward the spring of 1873. I bathed it with warm water and Cuticura Soap and applied Cuticura Ointment which never failed to heal it up. The last time it broke out was when she was six years old. It became so bad that I was discouraged. Then I procured a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent which soon cleared it out of her blood. I continued the use of Cuticura Soap and Ointment with the Resolvent until she was perfectly well. She is now about eight years old and has never been troubled in the least. We also find Cuticura Resolvent a good spring medicine and we are just giving the children Cuticura Resolvent Pills as a tonic. We do not think any one can praise Cuticura Remedies too highly. Mrs. M. A. Scherwin, 674 Spring Wells Ave., Detroit, Mich., Feb. 24, 1908."

REV. C. E. FISHER

Mildly Raps the Law & Order League

The meeting of the Republican club at republican headquarters last evening was a "frolic" despite the fact that Rev. Caleb E. Fisher, one of Lowell's most popular clergymen, was to be the speaker. On account of the slim attendance Rev. Mr. Fisher only outlined his address on "The Place of the Minister in Politics."

He gave the minister the credit of intending to do right by the city, to uplift its moral standards and stamp out its bad influences, but when it came to mere politics, Mr. Fisher believed that the minister would better stick to his pulpit and have his political effect through teaching the community rightness. If he felt that he must speak out against conditions existing in a city let him do it from his pulpit and with no uncertain voice. If a minister must hold political office, he felt that he should then resign his pulpit, the two being to him incompatible positions.

Mr. Fisher spoke of local conditions touching upon the work of the Law and Order League here. He said he had never felt called upon to join in the work of the league for he could not bring himself to feel at home in some of the methods utilized. He did not believe that he could ever bring himself to act as a spotter on the streets of the city. He did not wish to criticize the league members or the other pastors of the city. What they did was their business and not his, but for himself, his course was to preach from his pulpit for an effort on the righteousness of the community.

The Mother quartet gave a couple of pleasing selections after which Edward T. Howard spoke of the need for Lowell people to bring influence to bear on Gov. Draper to appoint a Lowell man or a man from this district or portion of the state on the new state board of education. Lowell with its normal school and textile school has two important institutions, among the most important in the state and Lowell, having never had representation on the state board should now receive its due. A committee is to be appointed to put the matter before the governor.

United States was valued at something over $660,000,000. I am still in the years of most active business life and yet since my graduation the output of the textile factories of this country has doubled, rising to over $1,200,000,000.

"A few years ago we were all discussing in Massachusetts whether our great cotton industry, which represents the larger portion of our textile output was going to emigrate to the seats of the production of the staple.

"Alexander Hamilton, one of the most able and farseeing men, who devoted much attention to the development of manufactures in this country, stated way back in 1774 that the best place to manufacture cotton cloth would be 'where it grows and afterwards transport it to the other colonies'; but the history of the next 100 years proved the error of that statement. The textile industry found its home and chief centre here in New England. In my opinion if you young men whom we look to, to become the leaders, do your duty, the great centre of the textile industry will always be in New England.

"At no time in the history of the industry has the outlook for New England been brighter than at present. In 1900 the Massachusetts cotton factories conditions of the jute mills in India, and nearer and nearer to a standard which affords a reasonable share in the comforts and enjoyments of life, and the possibility of maintaining that standard of intelligence which means the well-being of our people, the integrity of our government, and the kind of success which is not to be measured merely by the huge sum of dollars representing the value of the output of our mills, but the character and standards of our Massachusetts people."

Charles H. Eames made the concluding remarks, awarding the prizes and diplomas. He said:

"The age of the Lowell textile school is not known, that is, its age may be considered to be reckoned from the commencement of the movement, or from the date of the organization of the board of trustees, or from the date the doors were first opened, and the first class received instruction. It may be considered to be 18 years old when referring to the beginning of the movement; 14 years old when referring to the organization of the board of trustees; and 12 years old when referring to the commencement of instruction. We will not dispute over the question of age, but throw it all aside and, in the words of Topsy, say—I don't know my age, I just grew."

"This we know to be true. It has 'grewed' in all directions; by enlarging and improving its home and the equipment therein contained, by adding to held at Providence, R. I., on Saturday next, and council 265 of Lowell, about 100 strong, will be there in all its glory. Plans exceptionally elaborate have been arranged for the entertainment of the "drummers."

The opening number will be a parade in which 35 bands will participate. The theatres will be wide open and the piece de resistance will be a clambake on the Providence river.

The local council, Milo Hale, junior counciler, in going to Providence will couple up with the Manchester N. H. council. The Manchester council will be accompanied by a band and will be joined by the local council at the Mid-dex street depot on the arrival of the 6:49 train, Saturday morning. The trip from Boston to Providence will be made by special train.

and strengthening the curriculum and the personnel of the instructing staff, by sending out into the textile field each year an increasing number of young men fitted to cope with the many problems of the industrial world. This alumni is each year showing by numbers, strength and standing the value of such an institution as this.

Friendly Aid

"The school has been the recipient of many donations, all of which have served a purpose and added to the value of the whole. Manufacturers of machinery and producers of supplies and materials have been thoughtful of the needs of the school and generous in their help. Friends, both outside of the school and in, have assisted in improving conditions and in stimulating the interest of the students in their work.

"Three years ago the Louis A. Olney prize was offered by the head of the chemistry and dyeing department for proficiency in certain branches of that department. One of the conditions of the award was that the several amounts of money offered should be expended in books."

Mr. Eames then made the chemistry awards and continuing the organization of the textile schools of this state, the New England Cotton Manufacturers association, afterwards the National Cotton Manufacturers association—offered a medal to the member of the graduating class, in the course in cotton manufacturing, who showed the highest proficiency during his work at the school. Recently the conditions of the award have been changed whereby only such schools are eligible that have, at least four students in the graduating class, that have proper equipment and offer a course which will give a student a complete training in cotton manufacturing. The medal cannot be delivered today, but will be properly engraved and sent to the recipient later.

"The winner of this medal this year has attained an average of 81.8 per cent. In all studies taken during his three years. It is a pleasure to award the medal to Carl Howard Potter of Lowell, Mass."

"Honorable mention should be made to the second in standing who has attained an average of 78.8 per cent.—Harold Wright Conant, Littleton, Conn., Mass.

ORDAINED PRIESTS

Three Lowell Boys at Brighton Seminary

Elevated to Priesthood Today, as Members of Oblate Order—Rev. Edward Fox, O. M. I. Ordained Under a Special Dispensation From Rome

At St. John's seminary, at Brighton, Mass., today four young priests of the Oblate order were ordained by Bishop Brady, three of them being Lowell boys.

The ordinations took place this morning and were attended by many friends of the young theologians.

In former years the ordinations have taken place at the novitiate in Tewksbury, but this year Brighton was the scene of the solemn event.

The three Lowell young men are Revs. Francis McGann, James McDermott and Edward Fox of the Sacred Heart parish. In the case of Fr. Fox it looked up to the last moment as if his ordination would be delayed as he lacked six months of the necessary age. But at the 11th hour the necessary dispensation from Rome arrived, evidently secured through the good offices of Archbishop O'Connell, and Fr. Fox was invested with his sacred functions with the others.

Following are brief sketches of the young men:

Rev. Francis X. McGann, O. M. I., was born in Lowell in 1883, and he is the son of Mrs. Mary McGann of 64 Otis street. He is a graduate of the Butler school, Lowell, and of Holy Angels college, Buffalo, N. Y. He will celebrate his first high mass at the Sacred Heart church at 10.30 o'clock Sunday morning, June 6.

Rev. James McDermott, O. M. I., was born in this city Nov. 29, 1884. He is the son of the late Patrick and Mrs. Margaret McDermott of 31 Agawam street. Fr. McDermott was educated in the Sacred Heart school, graduating in the class of 1898. In the fall of that year he entered the high school and completed a four years' course in 1902. He entered Holy Angels college in September of the same year, and after a year's study there, went to the Tewksbury novitiate, where he continued his scholastic studies. Fr. McDermott will celebrate a low mass at the Sacred Heart church at 9 o'clock Sunday, June 6. He will celebrate his first solemn high mass at the Sacred Heart church Sunday morning, June 20.

Rev. Edward Fox, O. M. I., was born in this city in December, 1885, and he is the son of Patrolman Edward and the late Mrs. Elizabeth Fox. He was educated in the Sacred Heart and Butler schools, going from the latter in 1899. He finished his classical studies at Holy Angels college in 1903. Fr. Fox has not reached his 24th year, and it was necessary to secure a dispensation from Rome to enable him to be ordained. This came yesterday afternoon.

an aforesaid. Fr. Fox will celebrate his first solemn high mass at the Sacred Heart church Sunday morning, June 20.

Rev. Charles McCarthy, O. M. I., was born in Salem, Mass., in 1884. He is the son of John and Mrs. Deanne McCarthy of Lafayette street, that city. He received his early education in the schools of Salem and finished his classical studies at Holy Angels college, graduating from there in 1903. He will celebrate his first mass at Tewksbury novitiate on June 6.

Rev. Mrs. McGann, McCarthy, McDermott and Fox, O. M. I., made their perpetual vows as Oblates in 1905, at the Tewksbury novitiate, and they are the first to be ordained who have made their philosophical and theological studies at Tewksbury.

FUNERALS

SEARLE—The funeral of Mrs. Martha H. Searle took place yesterday afternoon from her home in Christchurch, Rev. Mr. Weston officiating. There was singing by Mrs. F. L. Roberts and Miss Salmon. The bearers were James Spiers, George Wright, Charles Smith and Mr. Brownell. Burial was in the Edison cemetery under direction of C. M. Young.

BASSETT—The funeral of Mrs. Frances L. Bassett took place yesterday afternoon from her late residence, 34 Nichols street. The services were conducted by Rev. Caleb E. Fisher, pastor of the First Universalist church. Appropriate prayers were sung by Mrs. C. F. Richardson. The bearers were Messrs. A. Higgins, J. H. Corlies, F. H. Coggeshall and A. B. Hilsley. Burial was in the Lowell cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Archibald Higgins under the direction of Undertaker George W. Healey.

CARTER—The funeral of John N. Carter was held from his late residence yesterday afternoon, many relatives and friends being in attendance. Rev. W. Matthews, pastor of the First Primitive Methodist church, officiated. Among the flowers was a large standing cross on base inscribed "In remembrance of our dear friend John N. Carter, who died June 3, 1909, at his home, 100 E. Broadway, after a long illness." The bearers were Messrs. A. Higgins, J. H. Corlies, F. H. Coggeshall and A. B. Hilsley. Burial was in the Lowell cemetery under the direction of Undertaker Albert H. Bixby.

my thanks to you and congratulate you on the fair and impartial manner in which you have performed your duty as juror.

Verdicts in Kittredge Case

The jury in the cases of McEvoy vs. Kittredge and Parent vs. Kittredge returned their verdicts this morning. In the case of McEvoy the verdict was for the defendant while $150 was awarded to Parent. During the trial of the case the fact was brought out that McEvoy had previous knowledge of a defect in the painter's stajings.

Walcott Loses Case

The case of Joe Walcott against the Boston Elevated went to the jury this morning. Judge Stevens charging the jury at the opening of the session. Before the plaintiff's case closed yesterday Walcott was recalled for further cross examination. He was asked if he was the Joseph Walcott who was fined in the Malden police court for different minor offences such as keeping an unlicensed dog and discharging firearms on the street. He admitted the dog fines, but thought it was his brother who was arrested for discharging firearms.

Mrs. Alma Wedderlow of Malden testified to seeing Walcott with his lip bleeding, and Chas. M. Harris, a relative by marriage of the plaintiff, told of his condition after he came home. Denial of Walcott's testimony to seeing the conductor kicking his feet, and that Walcott's lip was bleeding.

Some 15 witnesses for the defence were sworn and the first called was Russell A. Sears, chief attorney for the road, who testified that Walcott went to the company's office in 1907 to see if the company was going to prosecute him for smoking on a car; that he was told the company was not so much interested in that as in the language used by him before the passengers. This he denied, and promised if he was let off this time he would never make any more trouble by smoking on a car. This was several months prior to the alleged assault, for which Walcott now seeks to recover damages.

Charles E. Laby, the conductor on the car testified that Walcott got on the platform with a lighted cigar in his hand and when told not to smoke replied with an oath that he would smoke where he pleased. Witness then called the motorman and told Walcott to get off. Joe grabbed the car rails and refused to move. Witness and the motorman then put him off.

"He came back with his fists swinging this way," said the conductor, "and to block him, I put out my foot and shoved him off."

The conductor also said that he had had serious trouble with Walcott before. Had occasion to warn him 10 or 15 times, not to smoke on the car; and in June, 1907, he made a report to the office, complaining that Walcott smoked and swore on the cars.

Also, after trying to enter the car the second time, Walcott said, "You kicked me, didn't you?" Now I can fix you."

Motorman Chisholm corroborated the testimony of the preceding witness and stated that he had had trouble with Walcott previously. Mr. Saltonstall, arguing the case, reminded the jury that Walcott, angry and with his courage up is not the smiling grins who appeared on the witness stand.

Judge Stevens charged the jury briefly, and the jury after being out nearly an hour returned a verdict for the defendant.

Small Contract Case

The last case to be heard at the term by Judge Stevens was that of Michael Carr of Tyngsboro vs. Philip P. Connors of Lowell, an action of contract, to recover $2000 which the latter Mr. Connors owes Carr for labor.

J. J. Barry, for the plaintiff, and Messrs. H. H. and J. J. Connors, for the defendant, presented the case. The list of witnesses called by Judge Stevens was as follows:

Saunders vs. Phil. W. F. Connors, for plaintiff, John P. Barry, for defendant; Muller vs. William J. J. Connors, for plaintiff, J. J. Connors, for defendant; Barry vs. William J. J. Connors, for plaintiff, J. J. Connors, for defendant.

Nelly vs. Mutual Life, J. Joseph O'Connor, plaintiff; George Hogan, defendant.

Duven v. E. & N. E. E. Collier, defendant.

plaintiff; Trull & Wier, defendant. Philpot vs. Churchill, C. L. Allen, plaintiff; G. E. Farnum, defendant.

Paine vs. Ayer Elec. Light Co., J. J. Maloney, plaintiff; H. W. Ogden, defendant; Casey vs. U. S. Machinery company, Fider & Whitman, plaintiff; W. B.

Farr, defendant. Next Week's Cases

The following cases have been assigned for next week:

Lin. plaintiff; E. P. Saltonstall, defendant.

THE MERCHANTS

Ask That Commissary be Abolished

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Business transacted by the Panama railroad commissary, the main source to supply food and clothing for 40,000 people in the canal zone, amounted to more than three million dollars during the last fiscal year.

It is this commissary that the merchants of Panama and Colon complain so bitterly against and desire to be abolished. The commissary has stores, a bakery, a laundry, a cold storage and ice plant and a general store at Cristobal and Colon, besides stores in twelve other villages. Only Panamanian canal commission and Panamanian railroad employees are allowed to make purchases at the commissary. There are eighteen hotels at which meals are served at thirty cents each to employees, twenty-one messes for European laborers where meals are served at the rate of forty cents a day for three meals and 21 mess kitchens for negroes serving food in dishes to be eaten wherever they wish at the rate of 35 cents a day for three meals.

CAMBRIDGE MAN

Lost His Life Trying to Save Hat

CAMBRIDGE, June 4.—The belief that Edward McDonald, a young man living on Hampshire street, this city, lost his life in an attempt to save a new straw hat was confirmed today when his body was found floating in the Charles river near the West Boston bridge. McDonald and a companion were crossing the bridge from Boston to Cambridge last Saturday night, when McDonald's hat blew over the side of the bridge. The young man clambered down the side of the bridge in an attempt to recover the hat and was not seen again. The police have been dragging the river, but the body was not discovered until today when a little girl saw it floating in the water and notified a policeman. McDonald was 25 years of age and lived at 39 Hampshire street.
